THE CITY

Aleksandr Samoilov/Shutterstock.com

The history of Tampere started with the establishment of a small market town until industrial activities in the 19th century led to a rapid increase both in size and population. This was largely triggered by the establishment of the cotton mill by Scottish engineer James Finlayson, setting off an industrial revolution not only in Tampere but the entire Finland.

The city also bears great historical significance. Tampere was an important red stronghold during the era of the Grand Duchy, prior to the country's independence in 1918. The Battle of Tampere in the same year was one of the most important events in Finland's fight for freedom.

Today, Tampere is a popular laid-back hangout place with plenty to offer for nature lovers and foodies alike. The largest inland city in the Nordic countries is nestled in the never-ending Finnish greenery between the lakes of Näsijärvi and Pyhäjärvi, peacefully demonstrating that industry and nature can after all get along very well.

DO & SEE

By Good_mechanic/Shutterstock.com

Take a stroll along Tampere's main artery, the 1,300-metre long Hämeenpuisto park, and immerse yourself in the rich cultural and industrial heritage of the city, adorned by colourful patches of trees and lakes.

Finlayson Area

Scotsman James Finlayson's industrial district, one of the biggest in the Nordic countries, is a diverse cultural centre today, housing several cafés, restaurants, and other places of interest such as the children's cathedral, the Spy Museum, and Westras, the free Labour Museum. Don't miss the Finlayson outlet to get some design inspiration.

Best Time to Visit

Although Finland is an ultimate wintertime destination, those seeking more pleasant weather are advised to visit in the summertime (June to August), with temperatures peaking around 25°C in July. The coldest months are January and February when a considerable amount of snow is also to be expected. Spring tends to be the driest season of the year.

Passport / Visa

Finland can be visited visa-free for up to 90 days by citizens of Australia, New Zealand, Japan, South Korea, Taiwan, Malaysia, Israel, UAE and most countries in America. If you are unsure whether or not you need to apply for a visa, we recommend that you contact the embassy or consulate in your country. International (non-Schengen) travellers need a passport that is valid for at least 3 months after the end of their intended trip in order to enter the Schengen zone. Citizens of Schengen countries can travel without a passport but must have a valid ID with them during their stay.

Tampere–Pirkkala Airport (TMP)

The Tampere–Pirkkala Airport is conveniently situated about 17 kilometers from the city centre. For easy access, bus line 103 connects the airport to Tampere's city centre. Taxis are readily available at the airport's taxi stand, aligning with flight schedules for your convenience. Furthermore, several car rental companies are based at the airport, though some operate by reservation only. Ensure you check the rental companies' websites for their opening hours and other essential information before your trip.

Public Transport

Tampere's city centre is incredibly walkable, but for those wanting to explore a bit further, the Tampere Regional Transport Nysse has got you covered. With an extensive route network that connects Tampere and its neighbouring towns, you can easily and reliably traverse the city. Finding bus and tram routes and timetables is a breeze with the Reittipas website, also accessible via the Nysse Mobile app. Consider purchasing a Day Ticket for public transportation, granting you 24 hours of travel by bus, tram, and train within your chosen zones. These tickets are available through the Nysse Mobile app or contactless payment methods, including travel cards.
