Gran Canaria Tourist Board

Gran Canaria is more than just one of the world's most celebrated beach destinations. Get active at one of the island's many locations for diving, surfing, and hiking - you can even scale Roque Nublo, Gran Canaria's iconic "Cloud Rock". With such diverse landscapes, it's no wonder this island has been dubbed "The Little Continent".

THE ISLAND

Gran Canaria Tourist Board

There's an island in the Mid-Atlantic offering a gateway to the Americas. An island very much part of Spain but one far more African than Iberian in its make-up. That island's Gran Canaria.

Marvel at the Maspalomas dunes featuring grains blown over from the Sahara, making the area resemble a mini-desert. Explore capital Las Palmas de Gran Canaria, colourful and vibrant, earning it the nickname of Little Havana. Escape to the country by enjoying mountains which wouldn't look out of place in the Alps and valleys as green as their Welsh counterparts, under a trademark Gran Canaria azure sky.

The east of the island's often overlooked, but it has some great sport beaches for windsurfers like Pozo Izquierdo, plus pretty towns like Agüimes. The west of the island, meanwhile, boasts the great lost beach of Güigüi, ideally reached by foot. Nearly as unspoilt is the rugged north coast.

There's the deep south of the resorts. The likes of the aforementioned Maspalomas and the just-as-famous Playa del Inglés. Where the weather's even more ideal for sunseekers than Las Palmas de Gran Canaria, recognized by US academics as the metropolis with a climate more favourable than any other city worldwide.

TOP 5

Gran Canaria Tourist Board

Introducing Gran Canaria's famous five. These five destinations on the island you simply must see. 1, 2, 3, here goes:

Vegueta

Mógan

Roque Nublo

Maspalomas

Museums

Vegueta

Strolling around the cobbled streets of Vegueta, where the twin towers of Catedral de Santa Ana dominate the skyline, feels like stepping back in time, for you're walking in the footsteps of Christopher Columbus. Visit the Ermita de San Antonio hermitage, where a kneeling Columbus prayed prior to setting sail.

Address: Vegueta, Las Palmas de Gran Canaria

Mógan

Three, it's the magic number. One: there's Mógan, the south-west municipality which enjoys the best weather on GC as the south is sunniest and the west clearest. Two: there's Puerto de Mógan, a stylish resort dubbed 'Little Venice' for its intricate canals. Three: the town of Mógan itself, once a humble fishing village, now a captivating town of picturesque whitewashed houses.

Roque Nublo

Australia's got Ayer's Rock, Ireland — the Blarney Stone, and Gran Canaria has Roque Nublo. The Cloud Rock seems a little bit of an odd name.

Usually, you can see for miles and miles from this famous vantage point. Walk there from La Goleta parking lot, located on the Ayacata-Pozo de las Nieves road.

Maspalomas

The famous dunes have been a nature reserve since 1897, although scientists theorise they only date back to 1755 when a Lisbon-born tsunami hit Gran Cannaria. The Faro de Maspalomas, an active 19th century lighthouse, is a 68-metre tall man-made landmark. It stands proudly at the end of the spectacular 2,710-metre-long beach.

Address: Maspalomas, San Bartolomé de Tirajana

Museums

For a gateway into Gran Canaria's past, why not visit one of the island's museums? Las Palmas de Gran Canaria's Casa de Colón (Columbus House) museum chronicles the adventures of Christopher Columbus, while Gáldar's Cueva Pintada (Painted Cave) museum reveals the island's pre-Spanish history.

Caves of Valerón

Over 800 years ago, the ancient Canarians crafted the Caves of Valerón, a remarkable granary within Montaña del Gallego's volcanic landscape. Utilising natural geological formations, they skilfully created more than 350 storage cavities across several levels. Today, the cave "monastery" of Valerón is one of Gran Canaria's most visited sights, easily reached off the GC-2 superhighway.

Address: Cenobio de Valerón, Cuesta de Silva, Santa María de Guía

Dunes of Maspalomas

The dunes of Maspalomas have been protected as a nature reserve since 1987. The protected area encompasses a stunning beach, a field of natural sand dunes, a palm grove and a brackish lagoon. This unique oasis is encircled by the famous hotels of the major tourist hub of Maspalomas. Lose yourself in their sheer immensity of the sand.

Las Palmas de Gran Canaria

Las Palmas de Gran Canaria has everything you'd expect in a capital city. Bright and light, there's a very definite buzz. Visit Mesa y López for high-street shopping. For boutiques, try Triana. History buffs will prefer a stroll around Vegueta, the original Las Palmas de Gran Canaria. Beach bums flock to Las Canteras, truly one of the world's great urban beaches.

El Museo Canario

The Museo Canario (Canarian museum) in Vegueta allows you to find out more about the Canarii — the people who occupied Gran Canaria before the arrival of the Spanish colonisers in the 15th century.

Los Tilos de Moya Nature Reserve

Los Tilos de Moya Nature Reserve shelters one of the island's last laurel forests, where great Canarii warriors like Doramas used to roam.

Home to over 50 plant species of special scientific interest and countless invertebrates, this reserve is a sanctuary for endemic and endangered species, sustaining the majority of their populations.

Taste Gran Canaria

If it's international cuisine you're looking for, you're well-catered for by cosmopolitan Las Palmas de Gran Canaria. Visit Teror's market to pick up the municipality's traditional chorizo, a sausage that's as sweet as it is savoury. Further inland, Tejeda makes good use of its almond trees in desserts. Traditional gastronomy is all around.

Address: Mercadillo de Teror, Teror, Gran Canaria

Theme Parks

Scream if you want to go faster on the slides at Aqualand Water Park or check out all the pretty birds at Palmitos Park. Visit Sioux City Park if you're a fan of cowboys and the Wild West. Alternatively, head to Puerto Rico for the Angry Birds Activity Park with zip-lines and a laser maze.

Nautical Activities

Gran Canaria's 236 km of Atlantic coastline makes the island a fantastic water-sports venue. Learn how to SUP on Canteras beach in Las Palmas de Gran Canaria or kayak at Playa de Alcaravaneras nearby. There are surf schools in the north and south of the island, as well as dive academies if you want to go deep, deep down.

Internet:

www.grancanaria.com/turismo/en/nautical/enjoy-the-sea

Activities on Land

Gran Canaria offers things to do on its turf as well as its surf. There are a number of caminos reales, royal pathways, which you can hike along.

These include a three-day version of the famous Camino de Santiago. The island is a great cycling destination too, with professional teams using it as a training base.

Internet: www.grancanaria.com/turismo/en/sports/sports

Golf

Gran Canaria offers some testing courses to challenge even the most experienced golfer. These include the oldest course in the whole of Spain, Bandama's Real Club de Golf de Las Palmas, and one of the newest, the Salobre Norte, at the Sheraton Salobre in the south of the island.

Spas

Gran Canaria's a well-established wellness destination. Many tourists visit the island as the climate's been recommended them by their doctor. Gran Canaria Wellness helps you find the best spa and thalassotherapy hotels on the island. As well as the finest medical centres.

Email: info@grancanariawellness.com

Traditional Sports

Gran Canaria locals love their basketball and football, but they are also keen on some sports that predate the arrival of the Spanish. The likes of lucha canaria, Canarian wrestling, whose bouts draw a loyal following to the rings in municipalities up and down the island.

Party Like a Canarian

Fiesta fiesta, no time for siesta! Teror's Fiesta de Nuestra Señora del Pino (Our Lady of the Pine), dates back to the 17th century, when the statue of Gran Canaria's patron saint was taken to the capital to pray for rain. Even older is Agaete's Fiesta de la Rama in August which sees partygoers thrashing the Atlantic with palm branches, just like the canarii before them did, again for rain.

Valle de Agaete — Where the Coffee Grows

Valle de Agaete, in northwest Gran Canaria, holds the unique distinction of being one of Europe's few coffee-growing regions.

With a tradition dating back to the 18th century, this serene village nurtures Arabic coffee plants in the shade of the fragrant jasmine and mango trees. The coffee from Agaete has evolved into a gourmet product, cherished for its exceptional flavour.

Fiesta del Charco

The 11th of September sees locals, many dressed in traditional Canarian clothing, enter the lagoon above La Aldea de San Nicolás' main beach and try to catch fish with their bare hands. This celebration pays homage to the Canarian ancestral practice of embarbascada — a fishing technique that involves pouring sap from plants such as cardon or tabaiba to sedate the fish before catching it.

Address: Charco de La Aldea, La Aldea de San Nicolás

Bufadero La Garita

Bufadero La Garita, on Gran Canaria's eastern coast, is a natural spectacle where waves dramatically shoot through rock formations.

This volcanic blowhole, adjacent to the dark sandy Playa de la Garita, creates a stunning display, with water spraying high into the air. Accompanied by the rhythmic 'heartbeat of the ocean', it's a mesmerising spot, especially at sunrise.

Address: Calle Romero, 1, La Garita

Cueva de Cuatro Puertas

Cueva de Cuatro Puertas, a grand cave carved into volcanic tuff, is known for its four large entrances leading to a horizontal platform. Linked to the religious practices of the ancient Canarians, this archaeological site offers insights into their sacred and cultural world, as well as panoramic views.

Phone: +34 828 01 33 12

Mirador del Balcón

Mirador del Balcón in La Aldea de San Nicolás is a serene stargazing spot, perched on 'Dragon's Tail' cliffs. Its stark beauty offers a gateway to celestial wonders, where constellations like Ursa Minor and Cassiopeia shine against the Atlantic.

BEACH LIFE

Gran Canaria Tourist Board

Although Gran Canaria boasts an abundance of cultural and natural attractions, most visitors are drawn to the extensive beaches. Around 20 percent of the coastline consist of sandy beaches of various lengths, designs and sand colours. There are also rocky coves and natural swimming pools to explore. Visit the wild north coast if you want a change from the tamer south coast.

Playa del Inglés

Playa del Inglés is one of the longest beaches on Gran Canaria. Its sand is the colour of vanilla ice cream. No matter how busy it is, there's always room for another towel.

Address: Playa del Inglés, San Bartolomé de Tirajana

Sardina del Norte

This treasure of a beach is a favourite with locals from nearby Gáldar and beyond. Sardina del Norte is one of the best places to dive on the island. Its restaurants also specialize in recently-caught sardines, served with a wedge of lemon. This beach can get windy in summer, but it's also one of the sunniest spots in the north of the island.

Address: Playa de Sardina del Norte, Gáldar

Maspalomas

Walking in the sand dunes will trick you into thinking you're lost in the Sahara desert. Together with Playa del Inglés and all the way to Playa San Agustín, Maspalomas forms a super-beach in the longest, unbroken stretch of sand on the island.

Address: Playa de Maspalomas, San Bartolomé de Tirajana

Internet:

www.grancanaria.com/turismo/en/beaches/maspalomas

San Agustín

San Agustín is quieter than Playa del Inglés and Maspalomas. It's more of a hit with Gran Canaria natives than tourists. Even so, there is a good selection of international restaurants along its promenade.

Amadores

On the southwest coast of Gran Canaria lies this 800-metre stretch of golden sand and crystal-clear waters, hidden within a protective embrace of a roomy cove. Playa de Amadores means "Beach of Lovers", and the site is indeed perfect for couples in love. Ball games and loud music are prohibited, which helps to create a peaceful and serene setting.

Las Canteras

One of the world's great urban beaches, Las Palmas de Gran Canaria's Playa de las Canteras features a promenade to match the hype. If you don't want to get sand between your toes, the Paseo de Las Canteras provides the ideal setting for a stroll.

DINING

Gran Canaria Tourist Board

Surrounded by the ocean, it's no surprise that fish and seafood play a leading role in the island's menu. Nevertheless, they are far from the only ingredients in Canarian cuisine. You must try the local speciality ropa vieja (resembling parrotfish), but also keep an eye out for conejo en salmorejo (rabbit in spicy sauce) and cabrito (young goat). These are served with papas arrugadas (potatoes boiled in sea salt) and a variety of mojos (sauces) made from oil, vinegar, garlic, cumin, red pepper and green coriander. Very flavourful!

CAFÉS

Gran Canaria Tourist Board

Locals start, and indeed end, their day with a coffee. Forget your lattes — Gran Canaria natives keep things short with a cortado. For a more milky version, ask for a cortado largo, or even a relaxing café con leche. Parque Santa Catalina, Triana's Plaza Cairasco, and Vegueta's Plaza Santa Ana are popular coffee break destinations.

Parque Santa Catalina

Less a park and more of a square, for cruise ship passengers, Parque Santa Catalina is the first place they'll see after arriving to Las Palmas de Gran Canaria. Take your pick from the cafés which offer more outdoor seating than indoor.

Address: Parque Santa Catalina, Las Palmas de Gran Canaria

Plaza Cairasco

Located in upper Triana, this perfect square is a hop, skip, and a jump away from Vegueta. Take pleasure in leisure as you while away the time in one of Cairasco's cafés. With the average temperature around 22°, you'll appreciate the al fresco experience.

Address: Plaza Cairasco, Las Palmas de Gran Canaria

Plaza Santa Ana

Enjoy a cuppa in the olde-worlde setting of Vegueta. The cathedral looms magnificently over you as the rest of Las Palmas de Gran Canaria goes about its business in this bustling, pedestrianized area. There's always time for one more cup of coffee, however.

Address: Plaza Santa Ana, Las Palmas de Gran Canaria

Meloneras

Meloneras is your go-to place for retail therapy in the south of the island. Stop before you drop and enjoying a restorative cup of coffee in one of the stylish, upmarket cafes.

Address: Meloneras, San Bartolomé de Tirajana

Antico Caffé

Vegueta's very own Little Italy is the perfect spot to enjoy a cappuccino or cool down with an authentic Italian gelato in Las Palmas de Gran Canaria old town.

Address: Calle Obispo Codina 5, Las Palmas de Gran Canaria

Phone: +34 625 01 54 23

Coki Mesa y López

The destination of choice for Las Palmas de Gran Canaria's brunch is on the opposite side of town to sister cafe, Cokí Triana on Calle Perdomo. Coki Mesa y López is just as veggie-friendly as its other branch.

Address: Pasaje de Inglaterra, 5, Las Palmas de Gran Canaria

Opening hours: Sun–Thu 1pm–11pm, Fri & Sat 1pm–midnight

Phone: +34 625 36 36 52

Quiosco San Telmo: La Modernista

La Modernista café, a charming kiosk in San Telmo Park, stands as an emblematic modernist gem since 1924. Originally from Manises, Valencia, this café, with its distinctive octagonal structure and colourful tiled façade, offers a quaint outdoor seating area. It's a perfect spot for a quality aperitif amidst the busy Triana neighbourhood, blending historic allure with contemporary café culture.

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

Gran Canaria Tourist Board

The nightlife in Gran Canaria is lively, colourful, and exciting. Maspalomas and Playa del Ingles are the hottest party spots. It starts after midnight and continues until sunrise, with most bars open until 2 am and nightclubs usually open until 6 am. Very little happens before midnight. The Yumbo shopping centre is where most of the action takes place, drawing a diverse crowd of partygoers from sunset to sunrise.

Yumbo Centrum

A shopping centre by day, a LGBTQ+ temple to hedonism by night. There are numerous bars and clubs to choose from. Yumbo Centrum is the perfect destination for a pub crawl.

SHOPPING

Gran Canaria Tourist Board

There are four types of shopping on Gran Canaria: souvenir shopping, strolling on the main street, wandering through shopping centres, and bargaining at the local market. Whatever your heart desires, you can find it on the island. The highest concentration of shops catering to tourists is in the four-storey Yumbo Centre in Maspalomas, with more than 200 stores selling everything from castanets to cigarettes. In the capital, the long pedestrian street Calle Mayor de Triana is your destination for main street city shopping.

To find consumer goods, household items, and fashion accessories under one roof, head to one of the many shopping centres like La Ballena just outside Las Palmas, or Las Arenas near Las Canteras beach. Alternatively, you can try the famous department store El Corte Inglés on Avenida Mesa y López, Las Palmas.

On a smaller scale, purchases can be made at one of the many markets scattered over the island. One of the largest is Mercadillo de Vecindario held every Wednesday in the main square of Vecindario. Also, check out the weekend market in Vega de San Mateo for art, crafts, and locally produced food.

Calle Mayor de Triana

Las Palmas de Gran Canaria's main high street is where the locals like to do their shopping. It's also where they like to have a coffee, grab a bite to eat, and enjoy a drink. Expect to find lots of bars, cafés and restaurants, along with a plethora of shops.

TOURIST INFORMATION

Gran Canaria Tourist Board

Around the size of Greater London, Gran Canaria's an easy enough island to navigate. Having said that, it's rather more mountainous than the likes of NW1. There are two bus services on the island, one serving the capital Las Palmas de Gran Canaria and the other, the rest of the island.

Aeropuerto de Gran Canaria (LPA)

You'll find the Aeropuerto de Gran Canaria (LPA) roughly halfway between capital Las Palmas de Gran Canaria and the island's southern resorts.

It's 24km south of the capital city and 30km north of Playa del Inglés. There's a taxi rank at the airport plus Global bus stops.

Address: GC-1, Las Palmas de Gran Canaria

Phone: +34 928 57 91 30

Internet: www.aena.es/es/gran-canaria.html

Public Transport

You can get to more or less anywhere on the island by Global bus (www.globalsu.net). The capital has two bus stations, in Parque San Telmo and Parque Santa Catalina. If you're travelling around Las Palmas de Gran Canaria, look out for Guaguas Municipales' yellow buses to cut journey times.

Taxi

Taxis are generally inexpensive with fixed rates for longer distances. There's a rank at the airport, as well as outside Las Palmas de Gran Canaria's two bus stations. Although you never have to wait long to see one on the capital's streets.

Internet: www.correos.es

Pharmacy

From the largest city to the smallest village, it's generally not a problem to find a chemist.

However, it can be trickier to locate one open out of hours. Nevertheless, each pharmacy displays the information on which particular chemist is open 24 hours on that particular date.

Population

864,500

Currency

1 Euro = 100 cents

Opening hours

On weekdays, shops generally open from 9 am until 1 pm and then again from 4:30 pm until 8:30 pm. At weekends, most only open in the morning on Saturday. Those in the resort areas generally open seven days a week. Over the Christmas and New Year period, shopping centres extend their opening hours to accommodate the extra trade with some staying open until as late as midnight.
