Valencia is one of the most vibrant cities in Europe. With a privileged location by the Mediterranean sea, it offers a perfect combination of beaches and culture, where historic monuments can be found alongside futuristic attractions. The birthplace of paella, it boasts a thriving food scene featuring Michelin starred restaurants as well as quirky tapas bars. Its neighbourhoods come to life during traditional festivals like Las Fallas whilst at night there is a buzzing atmosphere in the many bars and clubs in trendy districts like Ruzafa or El Carmen.

Valencia oozes history. A walk around the old quarter will transport you from the days of the city’s Roman foundation in the year 138 B.C., whose remains are preserved in the museum of the Almoina, to the times of El Cid and the Moors, witnessed by the medieval wall gates of Serranos and Quart, and beyond. The beautiful Gothic building of La Lonja (Silk Exchange) is a reminder of the city’s Golden Age in the 15th century, when Valencia was the heart of the silk trade. And you will also find jewels of Modernist art like the Central and Colón markets, as well as extravagant Baroque churches and palaces like the Palacio del Marques de Dos Aguas, now home to the Ceramics Museum.

But the city also has a very modern side, where you can spend the days in department stores or high end boutiques, and the nights sipping cocktails like the typical Agua de Valencia in the trendy bars of the bohemian Ruzafa district. The Turia Gardens were created on the Turia Riverbed after a disastrous flooding diverted its course in 1957, and are today lined with futuristic buildings. Here, the stunning City of Arts and Sciences, a complex designed by the renowned architect Santiago Calatrava, has become the city’s number one tourist attraction.

Above all, Valencia is a city that embraces the sea and offers an authentic Mediterranean atmosphere. The beaches of Las Arenas and Malvarrosa are buzzing in the summer, and also at weekends throughout the year, as locals head for a stroll in the sun followed by a paella at one of the restaurants along the seafront. Nearby you will find the old fishermen’s quarter of Cabanyal, with its colourful tiled buildings and traditional tabernas. The Marina Real Juan Carlos I, revamped to host the America’s Cup in 2007 and 2010, is now becoming the new gastronomic and cultural hub of the city.

One more thing is guaranteed in Valencia: wherever you go, you will find a warm welcome from locals who are immensely proud of their city and their traditions, and happy to share them with visitors.

EVENTS

With hundreds of events planned throughout the year, from boisterous festivals and religious celebrations to major sporting events and open air concerts, it’s very likely you’ll find something going on whenever you visit Valencia. Check the local press for what’s on listings or plan your trip around one of the key dates throughout the year.
Las Fallas (March)

Valencia welcomes spring with its most colourful and famous festival. Gigantic papier mache monuments, known as fallas, with effigies usually representing celebrities or politicians in a satirical way, are set up on streets and squares throughout the city, and burnt to a cinder in spectacular bonfires on the last day of the celebration.

The Flower Offering to the Virgen de los Desamparados, when thousands of falleras and falleros in traditional costumes parade through the city, is also a sight to behold.

Day of the Valencian Community (9 October)

Día de la Comunidad Valenciana, which commemorates the liberation of the city from the Moors, brings along one of the most peculiar and charming Valencian traditions. In a kind of “alternative Valentine’s day”, men give their loved ones a special gift of marzipan figurines of fruits and vegetables wrapped in a silk scarf known as the mocadora.

Great Valencia Fair (July)

The whole month of July is a fiesta in Valencia. Concerts, al fresco cinema, stand-up comedy, fireworks displays, folk dances, parades, street markets... the programme of the Gran Fira (Great Valencia Fair) features more than 100 events at different locations throughout the city. Don’t miss the Battle of Flowers on the last Sunday, when brightly coloured floats and horse-drawn carriages parade through the city, with men, women and children in lavish, traditional costumes tossing flowers out into the cheering crowds.

Moto GP Valencia

The Gran Premio de la Comunidad Valenciana is a key annual fixture in the Moto GP calendar. Thousands of motorcycling fans head to the Ricardo Tormo Circuit in Cheste, about an hour from the city, to cheer on their national and international heroes.

Valencia Marathon

The Trinidad Alfonso EDP Valencia Marathon is the highlight of the annual calendar of running events that take place in Valencia, an ideal city for the practice of this sport because of its flat seaside location and mild climate.
DO & SEE

Many of Valencia’s main attractions can be found within its old quarter, a compact area around the Cathedral which is best explore on foot or by bike. Buy a Valencia Card to get discounts at monuments and museums and free transport to reach some of the other key areas of the city.

Central Market

Opposite La Lonja, you will find the oldest food market in Europe, located in a fantastic building in a true Valencian style. The market is just as lively now as it was a hundred years ago, as if time stood still. This is a great place to buy some local delicacies and experience Valencia’s daily life.

The City of Arts and Sciences

The Ciudad de las Artes y las Ciencias, or City of Arts and Sciences, is a futuristic complex designed by Santiago Calatrava that has become the number one attraction in Valencia. Walking around taking photos of the stunning buildings is a pleasure in itself, and that does not cost anything. However, it is well worth the entrance fee to explore the various exhibits inside.

Cathedral and Miguelete

Valencia’s Cathedral is a beautiful example of Gothic architecture, and the home of the Holy Grail – the only one certified by the Vatican. Its tower, the Miguelete, is a true icon of Valencia. Climb up to the top for great views of the city.
The Turia Gardens

Since the Turia river was diverted south of the city after serious flooding in the 1950s, its former riverbed has become one of the best places in Valencia to go for a stroll, offering 9 kms of gardens, children’s playgrounds and sports facilities.

DINING

Valencia is not just the birthplace of paella, but a city where you will find everything from Michelin starred restaurants to traditional bars specialized in local tapas. With plenty of fresh produce from the sea and the surrounding huerta, delicious local wines, and creative chefs, eating out in Valencia is a joy. Beware Valencians eat late and many restaurants won't serve dinner before 8.30pm.
Valencia Cuina Oberta Initiative

It is a delicious initiative that debuted in 2009 and echoes New York and London’s Restaurant Weeks, when the city’s best restaurants offer exquisite tasting menus at irresistible prices. During the ten-day Valencia Cuina Oberta-Restaurant Week, Valencia’s most renowned establishments will prepare their gastronomic offerings for €20 for lunch and €30 for dinner (beverages not included). Valencia’s four Michelin-starred restaurants offer their menus for €35 for lunch and €45 for dinner (again, beverages not included). Valencia Cuina Oberta is a unique opportunity to enjoy haute cuisine at an unbeatable price twice per year (usually in April and October).

Tablao de Flamenco La Bulería

La Bulería offers one of the best venues in the city to enjoy live flamenco, performed by high quality artists, together with high quality Spanish food.
Valencian cafes are great places to relax and watch the world go by. Here you can also try some of the typical pastries or the Valencian tiger nut drink, horchata. The locals start the day with a milky café con leche for breakfast, and usually go for an espresso, a café solo, or a cortado – espresso with a drop of milk. In summer, order a café del tiempo, an espresso served with ice.

Café de Las Horas

Café de Las Horas has a fascinating bohemian atmosphere and it’s located in the heart of Valencia. From the outside, it looks like nothing more than an ordinary café, but the inside features an impressive design, lovely pastries and nice staff. It also hosts live music and theme parties inspired by victorian and retro movies.

Café Lisboa

At a quiet pedestrian street behind La Lonja lies Café Lisboa. Here you can sit in the sun and enjoy a beer together with good friends. Take the chance to taste the typical Spanish sandwiches called “bocadillos”.

Horchateria Daniel

A great place to take a break from shopping and enjoy a refreshing glass of horchata, the typical Valencian tiger nut drink, with fartons (doughnuts), in the beautiful surroundings of the Colon Market.

Bertal

With its central location, this is the perfect pit stop to grab an artisan ice cream while sightseeing in the old town, choosing from a wide range of flavours. The café also serves a selection of iced drinks, milkshakes and pastries.

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

Many Spanish cities are often described as party destinations in foreign travel guides. But Valencia is considered to have the best nightlife of them all, even by the Spaniards themselves. This is partly because of the large, 100,000 strong student population. The locals go out late, usually after 11 pm, and most bars stay open until 3 am or even later. The city’s main party street is Calle Caballeros in the Barrio Del Carmen neighbourhood. Come here for a mix of tascas, bars, and clubs. You can simply ask around to find out which night-clubs are in vogue at the moment - but here's some recommendations.

Fox Congo

This is claimed to be one of the best bars in the Barrio del Carmen. They offer a great atmosphere with tropical style and funky music. The tropical theme really makes it feel as if you are in the heart of a rainforest, although with all amenities such as luxurious leather seating, spectacular lighting effects and an entire bar made of Onyx (volcanic glass).

TOURIST INFORMATION

Valencia Airport

Valencia Airport is located approximately eight kilometres west of Valencia. Bus line 150 departs to the city and the port, and the journey takes about 45 minutes. You can also take one of the two underground lines that connect the airport to the city, the journey takes about 25 minutes - more info at:

Passport / Visa

Spain can be visited visa-free for up to 90 days by citizens of most European countries, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, South Korea, Taiwan, Malaysia, Israel, UAE and most countries in America. If you are unsure whether or not you need to apply for a visa, we recommend contacting the embassy or consulate in your country. International (non-Schengen) travelers need a passport that is valid for at least 3 months after the end of their intended trip in order to enter the Schengen zone. Citizens of Schengen countries can travel without a passport, but must have a valid ID with them during their stay.

Best Time to Visit

April-June and September-October are the best months for a trip to Valencia when it comes to cultural events, as well as for the weather, which should be warm and mostly sunny. June and the first couple weeks of September are also good for beach holidays: the weather is still warm, but the place is less crowded and the prices lower. The high season at the seaside is in July-August, but the weather can get very hot then.

Whichever dates you choose, don't worry about missing out on nightlife: Valencia is a lively university city, so something is always going on.

Last but not least, take a look at the "Event"

Public Transport

The public transport system consists of a network of buses, underground trains and trams. It is easy to get around Valencia and the metro is both the fastest and the easiest. Ticket prices vary for a single journey. You can buy combination tickets that include all means of transportation. The Valencia Tourist Card is a good option for tourists.
