Nestled within the lush Al-Ahsa Oasis in the Eastern Province of Saudi Arabia, the city of Al Hofuf (also known as Al-Ahsa or Al-Hasa) sprawls over the palm-tree-covered lands inhabited since prehistoric times. Al Hofuf is packed with historic sites, architectural monuments, and natural wonders, from forts and palaces to the whimsical Qara Mountain Caves and natural springs.

THE CITY

Al-Ahsa Oasis, which includes the city of Hofuf, is renowned for its vast number of date palm trees, estimated at around one and a half million. This abundance has established Hofuf as a leading date producer globally. The oasis benefits from a relatively favourable climate and a network of natural water springs, such as Al-Jawhariah, Al-Khodoud, Um Sabah, and the Al-Harah hot springs. These factors have made the area a thriving settlement for centuries, with traces of ancient life visible in its numerous archaeological sites.

Key attractions in the area include the enigmatic Qara Caves, the historic Ibrahim Palace (an important administrative and architectural landmark), the historic Al-Qaisariyah Market (one of the finest souks in Saudi Arabia), and Al-Ahsa National Park.

Hofuf is also conveniently located about an hour by train from the coastal town of Uqair, known for its pristine beach, making it an ideal spot for a seaside weekend getaway.

DO & SEE

Sergei25/Shutterstock.com

Al-Ahsa Oasis, the largest in Asia, is a remarkable destination in its own right. In 2018, it was nominated as a potential candidate for the New Seven Wonders of Nature due to its unique position at the crossroads of historic trade routes and its diverse natural environment. For a panoramic view of the oasis, consider climbing Qara Mountain, and be sure to explore the famous Qara Caves along the way. From the summit, you can admire the stunning sight of hundreds of thousands of date palms.

In Hofuf, don't miss visiting the authentic and well-preserved Qaisariya Souq, the historic Ibrahim Palace, and for those interested in history, the Al-Ahsa Museum for Antiquities and Heritage.

Al Ahsa National Park

Al Ahsa National Park is a lush green oasis located in the Al Ahsa region of Saudi Arabia, near the city of Al Ahsa and in close proximity to the Qara Mountains. Originally established to combat desertification and protect the oasis from encroaching sands, the park has since evolved into a popular recreational destination. Visitors can enjoy a variety of amenities, including expansive green spaces, playgrounds, recreational areas, and even swimming pools all through the day.

Uqair Beach

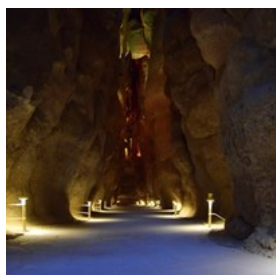

An hour-long train ride east from Hofuf Railway Station takes you to the historic fort of Uqair and Uqair Beach—a great destination for a beach day trip from Hofuf. The area is relatively undeveloped, so it's important to prepare in advance by bringing all necessary supplies, including swimming gear, snacks, and other essentials.

Cave at Jabal Al Qarah

The extraordinary rock formations and caves of Al-Qara are one of the most prominent landmarks in the Al Ahsa region and are well worth a dedicated day trip. Exploring the maze-like caves is a pleasant experience year-round; the caves remain cool during the summer and warm in the winter. The mountaintop offers unobstructed views of the lush palm oasis below. According to local legend, these caves are associated with the story of Judas Iscariot, who is said to have ended his life here after the biblical betrayal.

DINING

wong yu liang/Shutterstock.com

Grains such as wheat or rice and meats, such as chicken or lamb constitute the bulk of Saudi cuisine—pork is not normally served in the country, as its consumption is forbidden by Islam. Yoghurt is often used in local cooking, and dates constitute a dessert staple. A "Kabsa" dish made up of rice, fish, and shrimp is typical of the area.

Topaz

Hofuf is not a city distinguished by a huge variety of fine dining establishments, and Topaz would certainly be a good choice for those looking to visit a higher-end establishment. The menu is extensive and varied, and it includes Middle Eastern and international dishes.

CAFÉS

Zadorozhnyi Viktor/Shutterstock.com

Dates reign king in foods typical of the Eastern Province, and dishes served at Hofuf's cafés are no exception. Molasses extracted from dates are used for preparing porridge (a local diet staple). Menus of most establishments (from small locales to international chains) feature date-based desserts. Much as elsewhere in Saudi Arabia, fruit juices and smoothies are also very popular.

Bayt Jaddi

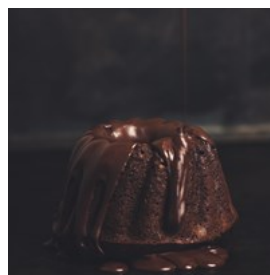

Located not far from Hofuf Mall (at the crossing of Abu Baka as Siddiq and Kind Abdulayiy Road), this eatery is a locals' darling.

The place serves tapas-style Middle Eastern dishes and snack foods and is a popular choice for breakfast--cheese-stuffed omelettes are a big hit.

La Terrasse Cafe

Expect a short wait to be satiated at this upscale cafe, for there is often a line of repeat customers at the door. The menu is Italian-inspired, with "risotto balls" being held in high regard by customers. Desserts are decadent--try the chocolate or date pudding.

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

Natalia Klenova/Shutterstock.com

The cultural environment in Saudi Arabia is highly conservative. Religious law forbids the sale or consumption of alcohol throughout Saudi Arabia, so there are no bars or nightclubs. Instead, evening social activities are centred on shopping or dining out in one of the city's many restaurants or cafés whilst indulging in a delicious mocktail (a mix of fresh fruit juices) or a strong cup of Arabic coffee.

SHOPPING

Laborant/Shutterstock.com

From one of Saudi Arabia's most famous historic souks to high-rise modern malls - there is no shortage of shopping opportunities in Hofuf. Locally produced products include, of course, dates and their derivatives, as well as clothing and textiles, coffee pots and jewellery. Please mind that some stores allow entry to women or families only (a sign will normally be displayed in the front window).

Qaisariya Al-Ahsa Souq

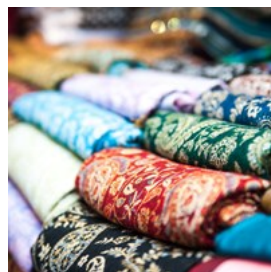

Qaisariya Al-Ahsa Souq is both a cultural attraction and a shopping destination. This well-preserved souq reflects the spirit of ancient times with its traditional Arabic architecture and market ambience. Visitors can explore a variety of vendors offering fabrics, crafts, spices, and other goods, all within the unique, historic atmosphere of the souq.

Cultural Norms

When strolling and exploring the city please make sure you wear the appropriate attire.

Women should be covered from neck to ankle and in certain areas, scarves are used to cover the face and head. Shorts and tank tops should not be worn outside of your accommodation by women. For men, loose clothing is recommended and shorts are prohibited.

When visiting, please make sure you respect and abide by the laws and culture of the country.

Passport/Visa

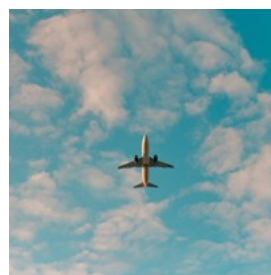

Nationals from countries such as the United States, the UK, Canada, and most European Union member states must apply for an e-visa online in order to enter Hofuf. Certain nationalities, including citizens from Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) countries like the UAE, Bahrain, and Kuwait, enjoy visa-free entry. For those not eligible for e-visas, Saudi Arabia offers a visa-on-arrival option for select nationalities, although this is less common and typically depends on the purpose of the visit.

To secure a visa, travellers can apply through the Saudi Arabian embassy or consulate in their home country, or use the online platform for e-visas.
