The largest and southernmost Channel Island, Jersey, offers a unique mix of English and French influences. It boasts quaint fishing villages like St Aubin, with stunning sandy beaches and scenic coastal walks. Island life is full of festivals, with a local seasonal event being celebrated almost every month. The capital city, Saint Helier, is small but cosmopolitan, with a bustling harbour atmosphere.

THE ISLAND

Bildagentur Zoonar GmbH/Shutterstock.com

Jersey has been hotly contested through the centuries. Its strategic position between France and Britain has left a long legacy of fascinating historical sites. Here you can find medieval castles such as Mont Orgueil at Gorey and the evocative Jersey War Tunnels at St Lawrence created by German occupying forces during the Second World War.

Today, Jersey is a unique and intriguing destination for both exploring and relaxing. Within the beautiful and varied coastline, the island has a gentle verdant green countryside rich in all kinds of flora and fauna. Split into 12 parishes, Jersey takes on its English persona very much with villages based around the parish church and the local pub all connected by leafy lanes ideally suited to cyclists and hikers.

Along the way there are some fine vistas across rich woodland. Here you can also see fields that grow both the famous Jersey Royal Potato crop and provide pasture for cute doe-eyed Jersey cattle that supply the unique and deliciously rich dairy produce famously used in the Jersey cream tea.

Jersey is truly a contrasting place, despite being only 116 square kilometres in size. Its isolation as an island and the reliance on land and sea create a genuine feeling that a visit to Jersey is a trip back in time to a more idyllic, less complicated world. St Helier, the capital, has an atmosphere and surroundings that assume a confident, affluent air of fine hotels and dining. Here you can also find luxury marinas and high-end shopping, mostly inspired by its high earning residents and its well established status as an off-shore banking centre.

DO & SEE

Andrew Roland/Shutterstock.com

For such a small island there is a wealth of attractions and activities to suit just about every age and taste here. History lovers of all periods will definitely find something of interest ranging from the Neolithic monument at La Hougue Bie to the legacy of preserved fortifications of the German occupation scattered around the island.

The south is dominated by golden sweeps of fine sandy beaches such as St Aubin's and St Brelade's, while some of the world's best surfing and wake-boarding can be found on St Ouen's Bay on the west coast.

In complete contrast, the north of the island is one dramatic cliff and headlands that shelter hidden coves and tiny fishing harbours such as Rozel and Bonne Nuit Bay. This is also one of the best places to observe bird life and, like the rest of the island, the area is interspersed with former German fortifications.

aMaizin! Adventure Park

aMaizin! Adventure Park is an all-inclusive park with many activities including the maize maze, towering toboggan, water warriors, gold mine, barnyard and numerous go-kart tracks. It's the perfect fun getaway for the entire family on the island of Jersey.

DINING

monofaction/Shutterstock.com

Surrounded by the sea, it is no surprise that Jersey is well known for its fish dishes and a range of quality seafood, with scallops, spider crabs, lobster and oysters taking the front seat. Other fish that feature high on seasonal menus include thick white monkfish, tasty bass and Jersey plaice, often eaten with a salad of locally grown lettuce, tomatoes and peppers.

National specialities include Bean Crock, a variation on the French Cassoulet, La Soupe d'Anguilles (conger eel soup) and Fiottes (balls of flour, sugar and eggs, cooked in milk).

The island is, of course, famous for the Jersey Royal potatoes. Try the unique Black Butter - made from local apples, its darkly sweet taste can be enjoyed straight off the spoon or as an accompaniment to cheese, Jersey ice cream or just toast. To finish off, try local apple brandy or a cream liqueur, or a Jersey produced wine from La Mare vineyards.

Tassili

Tassili is the place where haute cuisine thrives. The island boasts more than its fair share of the finest restaurants and award-winning chefs, with Tassili being one of the islands' Michelin star restaurants. One simply can't go wrong with one of their tasting menus.

SHOPPING

Dragon Images/Shutterstock.com

St Helier is the main focal point for shopping. Despite its small stature it has a good mix of retail stores featuring familiar high street brands as well as a wealth of independent smaller shops and boutiques, all within safe and easy walking distance of each other.

The pedestrian precincts include King Street, where Voisins and De Gruchy department stores can be found. Queen Street, Bath Street and particularly Halkett Street are all go-to spots for designer labels. The small boutiques and men's clothing shops take up much of the area.

Popular specialities of the island when it comes to souvenirs, and a little self-indulgence, are jewellery, pearls, unique local pottery, homemade fudge and of course the famous knitwear. All of this can be found across the island.

Jersey only has a 5 per cent Goods and Services Tax compared to the United Kingdom's 17.5 per cent. It should be noted, however, that some items such as clothing can be a little more expensive than on the mainland.

Voisins

Voisins is a department store containing the latest fashion for men, women and children. Here you can also find departments for accessories and luggage, as well as cosmetics. Take a break at Café 1837 to replenish energy supplies while on a shopping spree at Voisins.

Passport & Visa

For travel to the UK, citizens of the EU, EEA, and Switzerland (except Irish citizens) need an Electronic Travel Authorisation (ETA).

However, those planning to work or study in the UK for more than six months will need to obtain the appropriate visa. Additionally, residents of nine other countries — including Australia, Canada, Hong Kong, Japan, Malaysia, New Zealand, Singapore, South Korea, and the United States — can also visit the UK for up to six months without a visa, but they will still need an ETA. To ensure a smooth journey, it is advisable to consult the UK government website for any specific visa requirements or regulations.

Public Transport

Travelling by bus is an excellent way to see the island. There is an extensive reliable network crisscrossing Jersey. There are 3-day, 5-day, 6-day and 7-day passes.

Given its small size and relatively gentle terrain, hiring a bicycle is another popular way of exploring the island.

www.jerseybikehire.co.uk /
www.jerseybikerepairs.com

Car hire is plentiful both in St Helier and at the airport. Driving is on the left and there is a speed limit of 64 kilometres per hour. Those wishing to hire a car must be over 21-years-old, have had a full license for at least one year and no endorsements or disqualifications for dangerous driving or driving over the alcohol limit within the previous five years.
