THE ISLAND

Balate.Dorin/shutterstock

Menorca, the most eastern isle of Spain's Balearic Islands, is only 48 kilometres long and 16 kilometres wide, but it still manages to pack in over 70 beaches along its ravishing coastline. Consequently, unfurling a towel and soaking up the rays are the most prevalent thoughts of the thousands of holidaymakers who touch down at Mahón Airport during the six-month season.

Menorca is also a perfect place to go snorkelling and discover hidden caves. You can also get spectacular views of the stunning coastline, and the island's marvellous nature by either hiking on Monte Toro, its highest peak, or by going on a horseback excursion. The reward of any activity is always a breathtaking view, and on a clear day, you can even see all the way to Mallorca.

However, Menorca has a lot more to offer than just sandy beaches, amazing landscapes, and its beautiful coastline. Take a stroll to the historic cities to see the architectural heritage of the British occupation or the medieval era: to Fort Marlborough with its gloomy tunnels, to La Mola or the Cathedral Basilica, a beautiful church with lovely stonework and stained glass windows. On top of that, you can sample one of the best legacies of the British ruling: locally distilled gin.

DO & SEE

Anibal Trejo/shutterstock

Many visitors immediately head east through the flower-freckled meadowland of the interior to the resorts of Cala en Forcat, Cala en Bosch and Cala Galdana. However, step off the beaten track and you will be rewarded — Mahón, or Maó, an interesting capital with a turbulent history, saw many sea conflicts as the Spanish, British and French grappled for control of this strategically important naval base. The influences of all three cultures, as well as the native Balearic one, can be seen here today.

Mahón

Menorca's capital Mahón, or Maó, in Catalan, boasts terrific sights and a colourful history that is best explored by a boat trip along the harbour.

Do also stroll around, starting at Placa Colona, and lose yourself in a warren of tight alleyways.

Address: Mahón, Menorca

Fort Marlborough

The low-lying Fort Marlborough was built by the British in the 18th century, and as a cover operation, its entrance was hidden in a deep tunnel. Take a tour through the fort's gloomy tunnels for a unique experience.

Address: Camí de sa Cala Sant Esteve, s/n, Cala de Sant Esteve, Menorca
Phone: +34 971 36 04 62

More Info: There is no public transport to Cala Sant Esteve, but you can get there by walking around 2km from Es Castell after taking one of the regular buses that run from Mahón.

Pedreras De S'hostal

Pedreras de S'Hostal is one of the most beautiful ethnological places on the island. An astounding natural labyrinth made of incredible sandstone shapes left by both manual carvers as well as mechanical carvings, this part-quarry and part-sculpture field is a tranquil place. Visit in summer to enjoy one of the many live concerts.

Xoriguer Gin Distillery

A relic from the 18th-century British rule, Xoriguer produces perhaps the oldest gin in the Mediterranean, crafted using a 1700s

recipe and copper stills that are over 250 years old. Their showroom in Menorca offers an array of flavours to taste; don't miss the traditional pomada. Their unique process has earned them the 'Gin de Mahón' Geographical Indication recognition. Drop by and find your perfect Menorcan memento.

Ciutadella

Ciutadella de Menorca is a small town and the cultural rival of Mahón. Take a stroll along the canal-like harbour and dine on fresh lobster in one of the waterside restaurants, before checking out British colonial ruins.

Address: Ciutadella, Menorca

Cap de Cavalleria

Menorca has many beautiful lookout points, and one of them, in the island's north, is Cap de Cavalleria. Visit at sunrise or sundown for the most spectacular views. The beautiful Favàritx Lighthouse also offers lovely coastal views of quaint little roads, which end in crystal clear bays.

Cala Morell

Cala Morell is the hidden gem of Ciutadella. Here, you can explore different caves, go snorkelling or just admire the picturesque village and its laidback atmosphere.

Address: Cala Morell, Ciutadella, Menorca

Monte Toro

Monte Toro is Menorca's highest point, with a simply breathtaking view. On a very clear day, you may even catch a glimpse of Mallorca. Take a picnic or enjoy coffee or lunch at the cafe at the top.

BEACH LIFE

tuulijumala/Shutterstock.com

Beach-goers are spoilt for choice in Menorca. Some beaches are only accessible by private road where a small toll is often charged during the summer months.

Cala Macarelleta

This remote sand beach is cloistered by two rocky outcrops and a dense pine grove. Only accessible by foot, this beach has stunning, unspoiled scenery.

Address: Cala Macarelleta, Illes Balears, Menorca

More Info: Nudity is permitted but not required.

Cala Galdana

Known as the 'Queen of the Calas', this large sandy beach in the shape of a horseshoe is fringed by pine trees. With watering holes, facilities and eateries nearby, this spot is perfect for families who want to enjoy a fun yet relaxed day at the beach.

Arenal d'en Castell

Arenal d'en Castell is one of the most popular beaches on the island, due to its extensive selection of water sports facilities, shops, bars and restaurants. Head here for relaxation after a day's sightseeing.

Address: Arenal d'en Castell, Illes Balears, Menorca

Cala Mitjana

With its white sand, clear water, picturesque cliffs and a forest in the background, Cala Mitjana, or Cala Mitjaneta, is a must-visit.

The beaches are just metres away from each other, swimming back and forth is possible, but the connecting dirt road also allows for a great view over these two bays. As there are no restaurants or shops around, remember to bring supplies.

Address: Cala Mitjana, Menorca

DINING

Pawel Kazmierczak/shutterstock

The island's signature dish is, unsurprisingly, seafood – caldereta de llagosta, or lobster stew, to be precise. You can also expect pork with apples or plums, and dozens of variations of oliaigua, or garlic soup, but you should not be tempted by a Minorcan breakfast, unless you are of a robust constitution, as you will then order some great neat gin.

Es Nautic Ciutadella

This restaurant serves high-class seafood, and outstanding views over the harbour on top. While this is the best spot in town for trying lobster stew, you will also enjoy its very pleasing atmosphere.

La Caprichosa

This pizzeria is famed for its Menorcan-style pizzas, but also for serving a gamut of grilled meats and other dishes, all fresh. The terrace tables are literally only four paces from the harbour, while the inside seating is in a cave-like environment, and both of these areas will make for a great experience here.

CAFES

sukkub76/shutterstock

Coffee breaks are obligatory in Menorcan culture, and thanks to its many cafes, you will not have any difficulty finding the right spot when longing for a pause.

On top of satisfying this craving, by serving both drinks and snacks, many venues also offer spectacular ocean views for a more enjoyable experience.

Chiringuito Es Bruc Sant Tomàs

Es Bruc is as close to the briny as you can be without getting salt water sloshing into your coffee, as the outside terrace is mere metres away from the water's edge. This is a great pit stop for a cup of coffee, a glass of wine, or a light bite to eat.

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

Dani Olives/shutterstock

A word of advice: do not come to Menorca if you're a nocturnal neon-seeker with a penchant for high decibels to which you may be used to after visiting Mallorca 'next door'.

Although this smaller island is not the destination for a heavy night out, the lights will not turn off at bed time, as Mahón, Ciutadella, and most resort areas have a profusion of bars and a handful of clubs. However, do not expect A-list DJs and dancing till dawn.

Cova d'en Xoroi

Menorca's most famous hotspot, Cova d'en Xoroi, is located in a cave halfway down a cliff, and popular legend has it that this is where a famous pirate drowned. While this venue is a bar by day, by night it turns into a disco featuring live music performances.

SHOPPING

Skydive Erick/Shutterstock.com

For sheer diversity of shops, you should head for Maó or Ciutadella. In Maó, the area around Carrer Ses Moreres and Carrer Nou are home to the high-street labels. For stores of more individual character you'll need to stroll down Moll de Ponent in the port area. Ciutadella's ground zero for shopaholics is Ses Voltes and its numerous offshoots, where you will find plenty of opportunities to replenish your wardrobe.

Lovers of bric-a-brac have numerous artisan markets to choose from including Es Migjorn Gran on Tuesday evening, Maó on Friday evening and Ciutadella on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Avarca Shop

You can't leave the island without buying a pair of avarques — a type of sandal popular in the Balearic Islands. Here, you will find both the widest selection and the most unique designs at the oldest factory on the island. Take a look around and you will most probably find the perfect souvenir.

Shopping Centre Es Forn

Es Forn, a bustling shopping and dining complex on the vibrant Avinguda los Delfines, is your one-stop destination for souvenirs in Menorca. Conveniently located in the centre of Ciutadella de Menorca, the complex hosts a variety of handicraft stalls and souvenir shops offering a fantastic selection of Menorcan gifts. While you wait for your meal at the on-site restaurants, browse the stalls or enjoy the courtyard's entertainments, from table games to a bouncy castle. Don't miss the shopping bar.

Formatges Binibeca

Experience traditional Menorcan flavours at Formatges Binibeca, a family-run farm and shop crafting artisanal cheeses and charcuterie. Passed down over five generations, their handmade cheeses — from goat, sheep, and cow's milk — and sausages are a true delight. Just a short drive from Mahón, this cosy shop allows you to taste before buying, and the friendly owners are more than willing to share their crafting process. Try their superior cow's cheese and rich sobrasada. Vacuum packaging is offered for easy transport, perfect for bringing a taste of Menorca back home.

Del Claustro Market

Del Claustro Market in Mahón is a delightful spot with a warm, village-market feel. Housed inside a historic building with impressive architecture, it's an excellent place to pick up local cheese, fresh fruit and vegetables, and a variety of cured and fresh meats. The market also hosts occasional cultural events.

Decathlon

Decathlon is one of the largest sports store chains in the European Union. If you've forgotten to pack anything for your trip—whether it's hiking boots, water bottles, socks, raincoats, or any other sports-related items—you're unlikely to be disappointed. The shop also sells energy bars and protein products if you need to stock up.

Passport & Visa

Spain can be visited visa-free for up to 90 days by citizens of most European countries, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, South Korea, Taiwan, Malaysia, Israel, UAE and most countries in America. If you are unsure whether or not you need to apply for a visa, we recommend contacting the embassy or consulate in your country. International (non-Schengen) travelers need a passport that is valid for at least 3 months after the end of their intended trip in order to enter the Schengen zone. Citizens of Schengen countries can travel without a passport, but must have a valid ID with them during their stay.

Best Time to Visit

With its typically Mediterranean climate, and being the most temperate one of the Balearic islands, Menorca can be visited all year long. Thanks to the refreshing sea breeze, it never gets too hot during the summer. The average temperature of 25°C (77°F) during the summer season, June to September, is enriched by 11 hours of sunshine. The winter, November to February, can be marked with heavy rainfall.

Keep in mind, therefore, that many establishments with outdoor activities can be closed during the colder months, but the islands will nonetheless be lively, and luckily also not as crowded as during the peak season.

Public Transport

The bus company TMSA covers a variety of routes on the island, but cars, motorbikes and bicycles are also suitable means of transportation, with roads that are generally well signposted. There are also cycle lanes on some of the minor roads. Keep in mind that several of the more popular coves are only accessible by private roads, and a small toll may be charged.

Taxi

Taxis are generally inexpensive, and with fixed rates for longer distances. The cars are white and use meters to calculate the total fare of the ride.

There are several companies operating across the islands, and Pidetaxi is a popular taxi app on the island.
