A wide range of upmarket outlets pop up sparsely throughout the city. Plentiful handicrafts, textiles and clothes of any sort sit in local shops, waiting to be discovered. Fruit and vegetable markets, typical clothes bazaars and thousands of hawkers located among outdoor dumps and upscale residential areas thrive within the lively city.

Mumbaikers, living in such a urban jungle, have learnt how to get the best deals out of the city's thousands of vendors. A Mumbaiker would tell you that the stalls along MG Road boast some great quality signature items from brand manufacturers, that Colaba Causeway offers some of the best knickknacks in town or that fruit at the Crawford Market is fresher in the morning. There are lots of choices on Mereweather Road but you might, however, have to haggle to get the price you want.

TOURIST INFORMATION

Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj International Airport (BOM)

Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj International Airport is the busiest airport in India. Expect it to take around 90 minutes to get into the city centre as the traffic can be quite heavy. To get to the city centre, you can either go by train, bus, rickshaw, taxi or by renting a car.

The fastest option is the train. The nearest station to the domestic terminal is Vile Parle and the nearest one to the international terminal is called Sahar. Buses are another option, with numerous stops throughout the city. Route 312 connects the domestic terminals to Vile Parle (East) and Andheri (East) railway stations, while routes 321 and 308 serve the international terminal, linking it to Vile Parle East and Andheri (East) respectively.

Auto rickshaws, three-wheeled metered vehicles, operate primarily in the suburbs, from Borivili to Bandra in the western suburbs and up to Sion in the central suburbs. Additionally, numerous private taxi providers and car rental services are available at the airport.

Passport / Visa

All foreign nationals entering India are required to possess a valid international travel document with a valid visa. A visa is required for most nationalities, except for Bhutan, Nepal and the Maldives (if not arriving from mainland China).

The visa has to be requested through an online application. Be aware that a visa can only be acquired via this online application, and without any intermediary - do not hire agents who claim speedy/express grant of e-Visa.

Best Time to Visit

The best months for visiting Mumbai are the ones from October to February. The winter season here is warm overall, with a minimum temperature of 10°C and low levels of humidity. This is also the period in which several events occur, from the Diwali Festival of Lights in October to the Moon Indigo Cultural Festival towards the end of December.

Coming a bit earlier though, around the end of August and the start of September, is also a good idea: this is when the monsoon season ends, together with its heavy rainfall, leaving behind lush greenery making for worthwhile sights. You can also join the Ganesh Chaturthi, a ten-day-long festival in honour of Lord Ganesha.

Public Transport

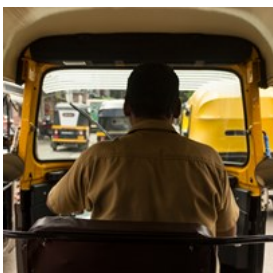

The city buses are run by BEST (Brihanmumbai Electric Supply and Transport) and, although being normally crowded, they are ideal for short journeys. To get around with public transport, you must be acquainted with the system; if you are a tourist, it is advisable to plan your journey in advance. Tickets can be bought from the conductor on board.

The fastest way to get around the city is by train. The city has three lines: Western Line, Central Main Line, and Harbour Line.

Rickshaws

Taking a rickshaw is an easy, flexible, and fast way to navigate through Mumbai's traffic. Rickshaws are readily available, especially near major roads, markets, and transit hubs. Most are metered, so ensure the driver starts the meter at the beginning of your journey. If there's no meter, negotiate the fare beforehand. Clearly state your destination and know nearby landmarks for easier communication.

Taxi

There is no shortage of taxis in Mumbai and they can be easily found throughout the city. Taxis usually have meters, just make sure the driver starts it at the beginning of your journey.

Consider Uber or Ola as an alternative to taxis when getting around Mumbai. If possible, avoid hailing taxis late at night. Use app-based services that allow you to share your ride details and location for added security.

Numerous post offices are located throughout the city, making it easy to find places to buy stamps and to post letters. Letters can be posted in the letter boxes sparsely located within the city, easy to find thanks to their characteristic vivid red colour.
