Straddling the Adriatic Sea where it plunges deepest into Europe, Rijeka boasts a rich maritime history. Croatia's third largest city and the heart of Primorsko-Goranska County, its charm lies in its hospitable spirit and diverse cultural heritage. As you amble along the Habsburg-era Korzo promenade, peek into the 19th-century National Theatre, graced with Klimt's artwork. Soak up the sweeping views of Kvarner Bay's islands from Trsat Castle. A cosmopolitan harbour of coexistence, welcome to Rijeka.

THE CITY

xbrchx/Shutterstock.com

The town of Rijeka can trace its roots back to prehistoric times, through various centuries of conflicts, ruling dynasties and countries, and periods of architectural change. Today, many buildings from these periods can be found, especially around Korzo and Riva street in the heart of the town.

Rijeka was known as Tarsattica city in Roman times, St Vito's Reka in the 17th century, and as Rijeka when it became a free port in 1719. During this time the city's prosperity as a centre for industry and shipping grew. In the 19th century, it became the eighth largest port in Europe. In 1970 Rijeka opened its first airport on the island of Krk, and its tourism and business sectors, along with its university flourished.

DO & SEE

xbrchx/Shutterstock.com

Rijeka pulsates with life, as it's a cosmopolitan hub, steeped in vibrant history, alive with cultural buzz, and blessed with enticing water-based leisure. This dynamic city never fails to charm.

The city offers an array of attractions, from centuries-old churches and museums to historic architecture. The hilltop castle rewards you if you decide to make the somewhat strenuous climb with panoramic vistas.

Trsat Castle

The Trsat Castle represents a strategically embossed lookout on a hill 138 metres above sea level, dominating Rijeka. Today the Trsat Castle has been enriched by new facilities and events such as the visual arts gallery, open-air summer concerts and theatre performances as well as fashion shows and literary evenings. Within the Trsat Castle you'll find the Trsat Castle Info Point where you can get information about this building and the City of Rijeka.

Old Town

Experience the mysterious side of Rijeka, the one telling a story from immemorial times, the story about the old Romans who moved the Palaeolithic and Neolithic Rijeka from the edges of the today's city closer to the sea, which means that from the main Rijeka's promenade, Korzo, you step into the passage under the city tower leading to the 'old Rijeka'. It is enough to pass through only a few metres long small tunnel to step into Rijeka's history so nicely incorporated in the present.

City Market — Placa

No supermarket can replace the charm of personal contact with a vendor or the excitement of an unpredictable purchase at the main Rijeka market, known as Placa. It developed in the 19th century, next to the seashore, right by the wooden pier where the local fishermen used to unload their catch and carry it in baskets to be sold at the market.

Church of Mary of God of Trsat

The Church of Mary of God of Trsat is the largest centre of pilgrimage in western Croatia. Its founding is reportedly related to the miraculous transport of the Nazareth Barn, and its stay on Trsat (1291-94). Shortly after the relocation of the Mother of God's house to Loreto, Prince Nikola I of Krk built the first small church on the place where the barn stood on Trsat.

Rijeka Tunnel

The Rijeka Tunnel, also called TunelRi, served as a shelter for civilians from aerial bombings during the endgame of Second War II, or during the Civil War. With its 330 metres, it stretches below the Old Town to the Dolac Primary School; the main gate is located right next to the Cathedral of St Vitus.

In 2017, after 75 years, the tunnel has been opened to the public and is one of the main attractions of the city, still featuring original signs.

Petar Kružić Stairway

In the northwest corner of Titov Square stands a Baroque chapel with a relief of Madonna with the Child on its front.

This passable chapel resembles a small triumphal arch and marks the beginning of the Petar Kružić Stairway that leads to the famous pilgrimage centre, the Franciscan monastery at Trsat. The steps were built in 1531 by order of Warlord Petar Kružić, and were built up over the centuries, up to today's over 500 steps, and adorned with votive chapels.

Passport & Visa

Citizens of European Union (EU) and European Economic Area (EEA) countries do not need a visa to enter Croatia, only a valid ID. Many other countries, including the United Kingdom, United States, Canada, United Arab Emirates, Australia, and New Zealand, benefit from visa-free entry for short stays of up to 90 days within a 180-day period.

Visitors from visa-exempt countries must hold a valid passport and, starting in late 2025, will need to apply for an ETIAS (European Travel Information and Authorisation System) authorisation online before travelling.

For those requiring a visa, such as travellers from some Middle-East, African or Asian nations, a Schengen visa must be obtained prior to arrival. All travellers should ensure their passport is valid for at least three months beyond their intended stay.

Best Time to Visit

When in Rijeka, the crystal-clear waters of the Adriatic Sea, fascinating history, delicious seafood and wine will surround you. The best time to visit Rijeka is from May to early June and from September to October, when the crowds of tourists haven't yet invaded every corner of the city. In these months, you can still enjoy sunbathing or any outdoor activity without spending too much. The peak season is from July to August, meaning that room rates are often higher. Winters, although cold, are known for being also one of the busiest seasons in Rijeka. Many events take place during this season, like the annual Rijeka Carnival; the biggest carnival held in Croatia.

Public Transport

The best way to get around Rijeka city centre is often on foot, but taxis and buses can make the journey easier. Rijeka's public transportation includes the city's 1st zone and suburban 2nd, 3rd and 4th zones. Public transport operates from 5am to 11:30pm, approximately every 15 minutes. The Tourist Card allows you unlimited use of Rijeka's buses. Your ticket is valid for 24, 48 or 72 hours.

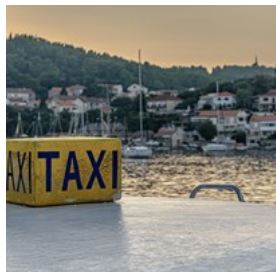

The rail station is at Krešimirova 5, while the bus station is located at Žabica Square. Scheduled bus lines connect Rijeka with bigger Croatian and European cities.

The boat harbour is located in the city centre. You can also purchase tickets online or in person at the Jadrolinija agency located on Rijeka's waterfront.
