Saba Divers / Saba Tourist Board

We welcome you to Saba, the Unspoiled Queen. The island of Saba rises majestically from her clear azure waters, stretching her summit to caress the clouds. She is like no other Caribbean destination. Untouched by the quickening pace of the modern world, an island caught within the moment of the old Caribbean; safe, friendly and charming with exquisite natural beauty both above and below her waterline.

THE ISLAND

Cees Timmers / Saba Tourist Board

Saba is known as the “Unspoiled Queen of the Caribbean”. You’ll find no franchises here. Small eclectic bars and restaurants will infuse your nightlife after you’ve hiked a mountain rainforest trail, dove a world-acclaimed dive site or just lazed by a pool with a good book.

It's easy to fall into the pace of island life. You'll receive a warm welcome from the people of Saba, people who have not forgotten the benefit of a friendly greeting, which makes wandering through a charming Saban village all the more enjoyable. Idyllic gingerbread houses and well-kept gardens resonate the pride the people of Saba feel for their island.

Before you leave her shores you will have experienced the true beauty and community of Saba, made new friends and, like many others before you, a return visit will be the only thing on your mind...

So if you have a yearning for a different vacation, consider nothing less than Saba.

DIVING

Saba Divers / Saba Tourist Board

Saba plunges below the sea as steeply as she rises above. From shallow patch reefs to deep underwater seamounts, Saba offers sites suitable for any diver’s level of experience. Past volcanic activity has created spectacular formations and structures. Underwater lava flows and hot springs are the most obvious evidence of Saba’s volcanic origins.

Saba offers year-round diving with seasonal differences in water temperature and surface conditions. The water temperature varies between 26C and 28C (77F-84F). Visibility ranges from a minimum of 20m (60ft) to virtually unlimited. Swells and heavy rainfall may influence visibility, but typically it clears again very quickly.

Due to the steepness of the coastal zone, shore diving is virtually impossible. Therefore all diving must be with one of Saba’s licensed dive centers. Their expertise contributes to a safe, convenient and informative diving experience.

Saba Divers

Saba Divers is the international diving center with 15 years of tradition, 2015 TripAdvisor winner. Saba is a big mountain with outrageous terrain. So much so, that the original King Kong movie used Saba's silhouette as King Kong's "Skull Island" home - and even filmed some of the jungle scenes here.

Divers can expect maximum comfort, safety, and individual approach. Saba Divers have two branches on the island. One of them is located directly in the heart of the island in the tourist center Windwardside; the other is located in Fort Bay harbor, where also diving boat Big Blue is anchored.

Individual dives are organized on a per-person basis or in a small group of 2-6 divers with an instructor. It ensures maximum comfort and safety for all people under the sea. Divers are served with small refreshment (fruits & vegetables) on the boat between dives.

Divers during their stay can expand their skills and get a PADI Scuba Diving Certification by completing specialized courses. Clients with no previous diving experience can gain all necessary skills under our professional guidance and return home as the divers with a PADI certification.

Dive shop in the harbor, enables divers sit down together after dives relax and share experiences from the underwater world with the international team of instructors and guides speaking English, German and Dutch.

Scuba shop client comfort zone in a harbor also provides divers with diving equipment to rent, including dive computers, and other professional diving accessories.

Further there is available Wi-Fi connection for free, and shower with fresh water. Saba Divers can provide divers with photos and videos from our archives.

Saba Divers offers Nitrox for free (it is included in diving packages)! Diving with Nitrox is safer, a dive time can be significantly longer and it keeps divers in better condition.

In the harbor are DAN oxygen units and a decompression chamber in case of emergency.

Sea Saba Advanced Dive Center

Since 1985, the Sea Saba name is synonymous with a first-class diving operation. Whether you're a newly certified diver or a seasoned photographer, our enthusiastic, all-instructor crew assures a safe, professional and fun diving experience.

Sea Saba's 40-foot (13m) boats are ideal for Saba's diving conditions. Though built for 25, we max each boat at just 10 divers. Two boats allow us to schedule dives to suit individual needs, interests, and experience level without compromise. We pride ourselves on adherence to the highest safety standards through regular safety training, proper equipment maintenance, and the strictest standards for air and nitrox quality.

Our dive guides are dedicated not only to the highest standards of safety, but are also knowledgeable and enthusiastic about marine life. All of our instructors have at least a Level 3

REEF Fish ID certification and are happy to share their expertise with you. Sea Saba's commitment to environmental education is evident through its status as PADI National Geographic dive center and a Sea & Learn sponsor. This commitment to environmental understanding is well-suited to Saba's remarkable biodiversity.

However, we know that a great dive trip is about more than just great diving...let us help you plan a special trip to Saba with a variety of dive packages from luxury hotels and budget accommodations to eco-style retreats and private cottages. For more information, enjoy our comprehensive website with Just Seen on Saba and News Features page and much more. Let us be your on-island concierge service and you'll see why we say "Dive the Sea Saba Difference".

Saba Freediving School

For more than 30 years I have been dedicated to teaching, instructing and educating those whom, as much as I do, have felt the passion that the sea and all its creatures motivate. With that in mind, my teachings all balance the technical aspects of freediving with a zero impact on ecology while doing an inner travel connecting with Mother Nature.

HIKING

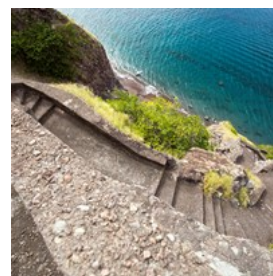

Cees Timmers / Saba Tourist Board

Hiking on Saba is an experience like no other. Explore the highest mountain in the Kingdom of the Netherlands or take a relaxing nature stroll on one of the many trails offered for hikers. Trails range from difficulty levels of easy to strenuous as well as distance and hiking times. So whether you are an avid hiker or someone who has never experienced hiking, you are sure to find something to your liking with Saba's many hiking trails.

For more information about hiking please contact The Trial Shop, located in Windwardside, tel.: +599 416 2630.

The Ladder

The stairway begins near The Bottom, a short distance past the hospital. From the lookout at The Gap, continue down a steep road through a residential area. The Ladder begins where the steps veer off to the left. The stairs were used until the 1970's to bring up cargo from the Ladder Bay to the Bottom. This historical trail overlooks the Saba Marine Park and the Diamond Rock. Occasionally, depending on the tide, there will be a black sand beach at the end of the trail in the bay area.

The Highlights of this trail include views of coastal bluffs, old Custom's house and ocean vistas.

Address: The Bottom, Saba

More Info: Hiking time: 40 minutes one way. Difficulty: Strenuous

Crispeen Track

The Crispeen Track begins a short distance past the dormitory in The Bottom and is well marked. Follow the signs to either bud's Mountain Trail or The Bottom hill Trail. The trail to Rendez vous begins above the last house on the left. The trail enters a rain forest and passes through fields and over a forest ridge. The trail continues into pasture land and on to junction with the Mt. Scenery Trial. Access to Crispeen Track from Mt. Scenery/Windwardside is via Rendez vous trial.

More Info: Hiking time: 30 minutes to Crispeen, one hour to Rendez vous from The Bottom. Difficulty: Moderate

Mas' Cahone's Hill, also known a Maskehorne Hill

Look for the trailhead signboard on your left as you head up Mt. Scenery from Windwardside. The route passes through landscape with lush vegetation thick with Elephant ears and climbs past tall boulders. If you are looking for a shorter and easier hike, as compared to Mt. Scenery, then this is your go to trail. Although you won't get the panaromaic views that Mt. Scenery provides, Mas Cahones Hill offers it's own breathtaking views of the village of Windwardside.

Highlights: Views of Windwardside

Address: Windwardside, Saba

More Info: Hiking time: 20 minutes one way. Difficulty: Moderate.

Mt. Scenery

The stairway to the top of Mt. Scenery begins just west of The Trail Shop in Windwardside.

Appropriate footwear is necessary as the steps are often slippery.

Mt. Scenery is the highest point in the Dutch Kingdom (877m or 2877ft) and is Saba's dominant feature. Dense vegetation with a variety of species cover the summit and upper slopes. The Elfin Forest (cloud-forest) dominates the upper 50m (150ft) of the mountain and is comprised of Mountain Mahogany covered with Epiphytes, Orchids and a myriad of other unique and rare plants.

Highlights: Secondary rain forest, fascinating changes in vegetation along the way, abundant bird and spectacular views of neighboring islands.

Address: Windwardside, Saba

More Info: Hiking time 1 1/2 hours one way. Difficulty: Moderate-Strenuous.

Sandy Cruz

The trail extends from Upper Hells Gate to Troy Hill and is a favorite amongst tourists. For the most part, Sandy Cruz is a relaxing nature trail, although you will find some parts of the trail have quite an incline. Enjoy the tranquility that Sandy Cruz offers, walking along to the sounds of chirping birds and rustling leaves. Take the time to enjoy the flora and fauna and you might even be joined by a snake or two throughout your hike!

Highlights: Primary rainforest, secondary rainforest, abundant bird life and spectacular views.

More Info: Hiking time: 3 hours one way. Difficulty: Moderate-Strenuous.

Sulphur Mine

From the Windwardside, as you pass the church at Hell's Gate, make a sharp left at the second road to your left (which leads to the old Gate House Hotel). Continue driving along the road until you reach the ends of it, there is a private home on the left hand side. At the trail junction, follow the sign and continue down to your right. Once you reach a grassy area overlooking the sea, a short scramble down the sulphur deposit will lead you to the mine entrance. Unfortunately, it is no longer possible to enter the mine, due to safety reasons. However, enjoy the spectacular views that this hike offers, and depending on the time of the day you can even see Saba's only airline making its descent to the shortest commercial airport in the world!

Highlights: Views of Green Island, the Pirate Cliffs above the airport and the steeply eroded North Coast. Sea bird watching is exceptionally rewarding in this area.

Address: Zionshill, Saba

More Info: Hiking time/ 40 minutes one way. Difficulty: Moderate.

The Tide Pools

A road just before the airport building goes down to Cove Bay and Flat Point. At the bottom of the road, walk out to the bluff overlooking the ocean. There is no trail as such. The tide pools are a unique spot on the island and are worth a visit. This area should only be visited when the sea is calm. When seas are rough, waves crash into the tide pools causing them to become dangerous.

However, caution should always be taken when visiting the tide pools, due to the jagged rocks that surround the area.

Highlights: Tide-pools and views of the remains of the sugarcane boiling house.

Address: Flatpoint, Saba

More Info: Hiking time: 15 minutes one way. Difficulty: Easy.

Spring Bay- Kelbey's Ridge

From English Quarter, walk down the road to the right of the Agricultural Station. At the end of this road, the trail starts on your left. Continue down the path to Old Booby Hill and further down to Spring Bay. As you near the coastline, the vegetation becomes increasingly dry and the air more hot and humid. For this trail, it's especially important to bring along enough water and use sunblock.

Highlights: Spectacular views of the ocean, the airport and the island.

Address: English Quarter, Saba

More Info: Hiking time 3 hours one way. Difficulty: Strenuous.

North Coast Trail

Access to the North Coast Trail is located at the entrance of the main trailhead in Lower Hell's Gate. This trail continues beyond the boundaries of the Saba National Park to Mary's Point and Wells Bay. Only guided hikes are allowed beyond the All Too Far junction.

To organize a guided hike, visit the Saba Tourist Bureau or The Trail Shop, both located in the Windwardside.

Highlights: Spectacular views of the ocean and the ruins of Mary's Point.

More Info: Hiking time: 3 hours one way. Difficulty: Strenuous.

All Too Far Trail

Can be started in Upper Hell's gate or Lower Hell's Gate (Zion's Hill). Starting point in Upper Hell's Gate; the Sandy Cruz Trailhead, connects North Coast Trial. Starting point in Lower Hell's Gate; the Sulphur Mind trail head, connects North Coast Trial.

Highlights: Transition from dry forest to rainforest.

Address: Zionshill, Saba

More Info: Hiking time: 1 1/2 hours one way. Difficulty: Moderate-Strenuous

Bottom Mountain Trail

From Windwardside: begin at the Mt. Scenery trailhead, follow Crispeen Track to Rendez vous. At junction take right turn and follow path to Troy Hill.

Highlights: Secondary rainforest and The Bottom.

Address: Windwardside, Saba

More Info: Hiking time: 1 1.2 hours. Difficulty: Moderate

Buds Mountain Trail, Mt. Scenery

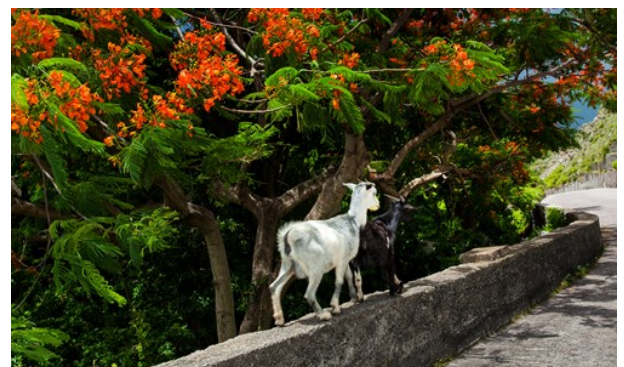

From Windwardside: Begin at the Mt. Scenery trail head, at the junction in Rendez vous, the first trail on your left is Mas' Cahone's Hill. The second trail on your left is Crispeen trail,, continue past the ecolodge, eventually you will pass a cottage. On your left is a sign to Bud's Mountain, make a right turn on this trail and it will take you to Mount Scenery.

Highlights: Views of Windwardside, St. Johns and secondary rainforest.

Address: Windwardside, Saba

More Info: Hiking Time: 1 1/2 hours. Difficulty: Moderate

DO & SEE

Laurent Benoit / Saba Tourist Board

Saba might be small, but there are a number of things that will keep you occupied throughout your stay. From island tours, to week long festivities in July, Saba is sure to leave an impression that will keep you coming back for more!

Saba Lace Class

Saba Lace is a unique needlecraft painstakingly created by the industrious women from Saba. It is also known as "Spanish Work" and has a history as special as the island of Saba itself.

Five square miles in size and rising almost 3000 feet high, Saba tested the skills of even the most skilled sea captains in the 18th and 19th centuries. No wonder Sabans learned to be very industrious!

In the 1870's, Mary Gertrude Hassell Johnson was sent by her parents to study at a Caracas, Venezuela convent. While she was there, the nuns taught Miss Hassell to create the intricate designs of this needlecraft. Miss Hassell brought the skill bak to Saba and in 1884, when regular mail service first connected the island to the outside world, the wives and daughters of Saba's seafaring men turned to the craft ito a mail-order cottage industry.

Now, more than a century later, the skill learned by a young Saban girl still provides a means of support for many families on the tiny island of Saba. Blouses, dresses, tablecloths, napkins, and bun warmers are only a few of the pieces that Saban women create in a variety of colors.

A few of the Saba Lace ladies, gather each week on Thursday to practice their skill and 'chew the rag' as the old-timers would say. Stop by the Eugenius center on a Thursday afternoon to gain some insight into Saba's history and culture.

Dutch Museum

The Foundation Dutch Museum on Saba is responsible for preserving and for exhibiting antiquities inherited by Rene Caderius van Veen.

These were first inherited and partly also bought by his grandmother mrs A.J.C. Caderius van Veen-Steenhoff. Unfortunately another part of her collections was lost in WW II in 1944, when her house was torn down by the Germans, because they wanted to have a free shooting field near the bridge in Arnhem.

After the evacuation René and his grandmother stayed in Leeuwarden in the province of Friesland in the North of the Netherlands for 7 years. He almost always accompanied her when visiting antique shops and even since he was a little boy of four years old she always asked what he liked the best. This explains his affinity with a large part of the collection.

Before moving to Saba in January 2011, his two sons received that part of the collection that was their choose. Everything else was shipped to Saba. To give all those antiquities that are on Saba now a function, exhibitions were organized and now even in a permanent way.

The idea is that now and in the future the collection will be an attraction also for tourist visiting Saba.

The Harry Luke Johnson Museum

The museum is an original wooden cottage in Windwardside, furnished in the 19th century style of a Saban sea captain. The cottage stands in a beautiful meadow, which serves as a public park for picnics, Easter Sunday egg hunts and croquet games.

Harry Luke Johnson (1914-1972) was a police officer and amateur artist, very interested in preserving Saba's heritage. He began Saba's first museum in 1970, and requested at his death that a public museum be established.

The perfect solution was found in a cottage built around 1840 by sea Captain Josiah Peterson and the museum opened in 1977.

Very few changes have been made to the original structure. The house conforms to classic Saban cottage architecture by being in two parts, each with a separate roof. This design mitigates wind damage. Red Galvalum recently replaced the shingled roof and the new floor is of Douglass fir. The siding remains the classic white-painted shingles, with white storm shutters sporting the green trim.

Saba's museum, its collection, and its unique setting are definitely worth a visit by any tourist to the island.

Saban Villages: The Bottom

The Bottom is Saba's capital and the seat of Saba's Government. Along with government and medical facilities you'll also find The Saba School of Medicine (Medical students and faculty make up almost a quarter of the islands entire population!). You'll also discover several small restaurants, bars and grocery stores. As you drive from the bottom to Well's bay, you'll see the old customs house that sits atop "The Ladder", the rugged steps that formed Saba's route to and from the sea long before the road was built. Climb up and down the steps once and you'll get a true appreciation of how tough life was for the Sabans, back in the day...

Address: The Bottom, Saba

Saban Villages: Windwardside

Out of all the villages Windwardside is the most tourist orientated. Drop by The Saba Tourist Bureau and say hello, you'll be within close proximity of six of the island's hotels and home to many vacation rental cottages You'll have no trouble passing a day wandering through small streets, investigating the museum & shops, a bite to eat is never far away... If you're up for some exercise pay a trip to the trail shop, pick up a map and a keepsake and then ascend the Mt. Scenery Trail to climb to the highest point in the Kingdom of the Netherlands!

Address: Windwardside, Saba

Saban Villages: St John's

St John's is one of Saba's smaller villages. Before entering our Capital the Bottom you must drive through this quaint neighbourhood. Here you can ask your Taxi to make stops to capture some of our best scenic shots on the island. On a very clear day you can see our neighbouring islands St Eustatius, St Kitts, Nevis and, if you're really lucky, even Montserrat! From this vantage point high above the Caribbean Sea, ships and boats can be seen coming and going to the Fort Bay Harbor.

St John's played a big role in the island's history, if a vessel was approaching someone from the village would signal to residents in the Bottom to let them know visitors would soon arrive. Be sure to check out Crispeen trail it will certainly take you back in time and give you a real feeling of the old St John's.

Zion's Hill (A.k.a. Hell's Gate)

Zion's Hill is the first town you'll reach after leaving the Juancho E. Yrausquin Airport. Hell's Gate was officially named "Zion's Hill" after complaints from the church forced the Island's government to change the name. However, "Hell's Gate" is still used by many Sabans and visiting tourists today. Hell's Gate is home to the Holy Rosary Church, a stone structure built in 1962, as well as a community center where visitors can purchase locally made Saba Lace, also called Spanish Work, and Saba Spice, a locally produced and very potent spiced rum. Hell's Gate is about 1000 feet above sea level. Lower Hell's Gate is home to a now-closed sulfur mine where visitors may explore with caution. Hell's Gate is also the start to the Crispin trail which one can take. The trail takes roughly 2 hours to complete and gives stunning views of Diamond Rock and the Saban coastline.

Saban Churches

A visit to this historic churches of Saba is a must on your trip to Saba. There are a number of churches on the island: three Roman Catholic, Two Anglican, one Wesleyan Holiness, one Seventh Day Adventist and one Jehovah Witness Hall.

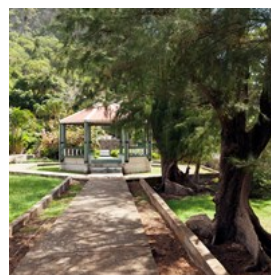

The churches are located throughout the villages on the island, and many offer services on Sundays as well as during the week.

The oldest church on Saba (Christ Church, Anglican), is located in the village of The Bottom. The actual date of construction is still unknown, however research has suggested that the church did undergo renovations in the year 1977. It is assumed that the church was on Saba for many years before the renovations took place.

Other churches dating back to the 18th century, include the Sacred Heart, Roman Catholic Church (1877) and The Holy Trinity, Anglican Church (1877).

The Queen Wilhelmina Park

The Queen Wilhelmina Park is located in The Bottom beside the Governor's residence, making it easy to find. The park has recently been renovated and looks more beautiful than ever! It is the perfect place to relax, read a book and enjoy the sunshine that is almost ever present on Saba. Enjoy the sound and breeze that come from the tall whistling pines, that have surrounded the park for many years.

Sea and Learn

Sea & Learn on Saba is a non-profit foundation. Since 2003, a month-long event takes place throughout the month of October. Every other night, starting on October 1, a dynamic large screen presentation is provided by one of our invited Experts. These same experts also visit our schools and work with the Saba Conservation and Child Focus after school program to teach our local children the value of Saba's nature and its importance to the region. Local adults and visiting tourists are also invited to join any of the marine and terrestrial field projects that take place. The focus for all events is casual hands-on learning. The month-long event is sponsored by island and regional businesses. With the exception of the school program, all events are open to the public and free of charge.

Saba Day

Saba Day is Saba's national holiday and is celebrated on the first Friday of December. Although the official holiday is one day, celebrations last from Friday until Sunday and numerous activities are organized for the weekend, including sports, a fishing tournament, food booths, music concerts, games and more. Sabans decided many years ago, that it was necessary to have a special day where we could all commemorate our history, ancestors, culture and more. So if you are on Saba during the first weekend of December, be sure to check out the Saba Day festivities!

The Rainforest Restaurant at the Saba Ecolodge is the highest restaurant in the Kingdom of the Netherlands featuring breakfast, lunch, and dinner. If you are going hiking we offer lunch you can take in one of our old school lunch boxes. We recommend the jerk chicken wrap, it is the perfect light lunch to enjoy from one of Saba's panoramic view points or on the boat between dives.

Enjoy dinner by candle light while listening to the frogs trill in the rainforest. Chef Keith J. Murphy will treat you to his own brand of indigenous island cuisine using local fruits and vegetables like the bumpy lemon, and breadfruit. Keith's Rub-a-dub Ribs are a local favorite. Our onsite organic farm provides a portion of our produce so we can serve you meals as fresh as possible. The full bar features signature cocktails like Sabanade and Kelly Killers, made with local fruit juices and premium liquors.

Saturday night is Fire on the Mountain, family style Island BBQ, and Bonfire under the stars. Sunday brunch, bring the family to relax and hang out on the patio with some games and Mimosas.

Scout's Place Restaurant and Bar

This very popular restaurant features a cozy decor, two must see terraces with ocean & village view where you can relax and enjoy the beautiful scenery. The restaurant & bar offers a large variety of local, European and American dishes. Scout's is one of Saba's oldest and most traditional places. "Everyday is a special day at Scout's Place". Famous Saba lobster, catch of the day, spit roasted chicken, curry goat and other dishes are some of the daily changing specials. Or choose some delicious food from the regular menu. The main goal is to offer you the most fresh and local food as possible so that you can get the great taste of the Caribbean while staying on Saba.

Scout's Place is always open and convenient located in the tiny village of Windwardside: Friday night's Scout's is THE place to be: Saba's best live entertainment "Sabaoke" night is a must see event and shouldn't be missed. Draft beer and a well stocked bar round up the picture. Don't miss the home made Saba Spice, a traditional Saba specialty.

Serving breakfast lunch & dinner daily (Sundays, closed for dinner).

The Seagrape Grill

Caribbean weekend fun at its best! This brand new restaurant overlooks Saba's only beach. Pick your spot and your view and look out over both the beautiful Cove Bay and the gorgeous Spring Bay. You can easily access the beach from the restaurant on our stone path. You can visit the tide pools and the ruins of the "Indigo Boiling House" when you come to the Seagrape Grill. Test your skills at spotting the numerous sea turtles swimming in Cove Bay or just relax and watch the moon come up over the Bay.

The Seagrape Grill was named for the magnificent seagrape tree under which diners can sit. Under the spreading seagrape tree, you can chat with the Saba Johnsons and listen to tall tales.

The Seagrape Grill consistently serves the best and biggest burgers, ribs and steaks as well as mouth-watering barbequed chicken and grilled tender chicken breasts. We also have grilled, homemade, yummy veggie burgers and hummus. Come have a drink - perhaps try our "Seagrape Special", while you relax at the Cove.

Private parties can be accommodated with advanced reservation. There is seating for 88 outside and under the porches and under the seagrape tree.

Swinging Doors

Market.

Swinging Doors is definitely the place where everybody knows your name. It anchors the corner in Windwardside opposite the Big Rock

Prop. and bartender Eddie Hassell has the neighborhood watering hole recipe down pat: a well-stocked inventory, simple fare (hamburgers, hot dogs, fries, etc.), and a wealth of unsolicited opinions-he renamed his "potato offering" Freedom fries after recent disappointments over non-support from European ally. Eddie is a naturalized American citizen and served in the US merchant marine for 13 years. Ask the man for a story and you a likely to get a book.

Speaking of Pat - and we were, weren't we? - Eddie's wife Pat does her best to keep the Wild West flavor of the Swinging Doors reigned in: the atmosphere is definitely mellow for families with children. The atmosphere is fun, the chairs comfortable, and the conversation lively.

Eddie's specialties are BBQ ribs and chicken dinners on Tuesday and Friday evenings. Quality is consistently excellent, ingredients rigorously fresh.

A new offering is char-your-own steak night on Sundays, although Eddie is glad to do the honors if sitting back talking to the locals is more to your liking.

Call ahead (416-2506) for a table or take out because chow disappears quickly.

Juancho E. Yrausquin Airport (SAB)

What makes this airport unique is its runway, which is only 400 meters (1,312 feet) long, making it one of the shortest commercial runways in the world. The runway is so short that only small planes and helicopters can land here, and only a few pilots are qualified to land at this challenging airport. Despite its size and limited accessibility, Juancho E. Yrausquin Airport is an important gateway for visitors to Saba, providing stunning views of the surrounding mountains and the turquoise waters of the Caribbean Sea.
