The coastline of the Atlantic Sea cradles the elegance of the historical city of Split. Chosen by the Roman emperor Diocletian as his residence, Split accommodates his giant palace, an intricate complex of quaint alleys and squares with over 1,700 years of history, a real city within a city.

While the charm of the historic sites captivates many holidaymakers who flock to Split throughout the hot Croatian summer, the unspoiled nature and crystalline waters just make them fall in love.

THE CITY

Leonid Andronov/Shutterstock.com

Split is the second largest city in Croatia. In summer, it is a dynamic and vibrant holiday resort. Its pulsating heart is the compact Old Town, composed of orderly streets and monuments of the imposing Roman emperor's abode.

Just a stone's throw away from the Palace, Riva, the evocative seafront promenade, runs parallel to the city in a hub of activities that buzzes with life from the early hours, replete with shops, cafes and bars. The seafront boardwalk is where both locals and tourists congregate day and night, mingling and mixing.

If the city centre and the crowded beaches have become a major draw for tourists, The Split peninsula is where serenity and the backdrop of Mediterranean flora shapes the atmosphere.

DO & SEE

anshar/shutterstock

The ancient walls of the Old City encircle squares, crescents and architectural beauties that create a cultural hub for travellers to discover. Split has a rich history, which is apparent to everyone who sets foot in the city. Here you will find historical sites, such as The Cathedral Of St Domnius, the main part of which dates to the 4th century CE; Pjaca Clock Tower and Diocletian's Palace, to name a few.

Besides the treasure of the magnificent past, Split also offers the timeless beauty of nature: its crystalline waters, long stretches of white beaches and the green oasis embedded at the tip of the peninsula are a major draw for nature lovers, offering hundreds of options for outdoor activities or water-sports.

Thanks to its stunning surroundings the enchanting city of Split has fully embraced tourism, creating a destination where its natural peculiarities have been enhanced by vibrant bars, restaurants, shops, and cultural institutions.

Diocletian's Palace

Diocletian's Palace is the city's pride and glory, as it houses the alleys and squares that compose the Old Town. Built for the Emperor Diocletian back in the 4th century CE, it boasts an impressive figure and a well-preserved building. As you walk through the Bronze Gate, a stunning view of the Palace will be disclosed to the eyes, revealing the magnificent ancient fortress.

The ancient fortress is not just a dusty monument. It has become a vibrant neighbourhood with many shops, cafes and restaurants, as well as some apartments. Around 3,000 people live on the territory of Diocletian's palace today.

In the popular HBO show Game of Thrones, Diocletian's Palace doubles as the city of Meereen.

DINING

Sergii Koval/shutterstock

Combining the cornerstones of Dalmatian cuisine with the famously healthy Mediterranean culinary traditions, Split's culinary heritage is a perfectly balanced blend of authentic flavours. The proximity to the Adriatic Sea makes Split a destination where sampling seafood dishes is a must.

Some of Split's best restaurants can be found outskirts of the Old Town as well as inside of the Old Town, boasting a fine array of eateries ranging from down-to-earth traditional taverns to upscale restaurants serving fusion cuisine.

Konoba Kod Joze

A 10-minute walk northeast of the Old Town gets you to one of the best seafood restaurants in town. An intimate and friendly atmosphere, the cosy, rustic interior paired with delicious Dalmatian cuisine, that's what Konoba Kod Joze is. On hot summer nights, the restaurant's terrace adds a magical touch to the evening.

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

Madrugada Verde/Shutterstock.com

Split is one of the best destinations in Croatia when it comes to nightlife: discover hidden bars and enjoy the vibrant atmosphere while socialising, having a couple of drinks, dancing and overall having a great time. The city breathes with the party spirit wherever you go. Start the night in the trendy Riva and as the night goes on, migrate to the Old Town to get a late dinner at one of the many restaurants. Check out Academia Club Ghetto, located inside the Diocletian's Palace. It is known as one the best clubs in the country.

Split was put on the map as a party town because of the Ultra Europe festival held on stadium Poljud in July. However, the majority of the exciting new clubbing spots keep their doors open off-season. Bars along the Bačvice beachside also stay busy way past midnight over the summer.

Split After Dark

If you're looking to experience Split's vibrant nightlife without the hassle of planning, Split After Dark is the perfect choice. Let their stellar reviews, and expert guides, lead the way as you dive into the city's after-dark scene. Whether you're dancing at a boat party, hopping between clubs, or joining a pub crawl, their experience promises to show you a good time. It's ideal for solo travellers or groups wanting to meet people.

SHOPPING

The Visual Explorer/shutterstock

Split has many shops, department stores and a range of small authentic art galleries, souvenir and antique shops in the alleys within the walls of the Palace. In the middle of summer these tiny streets are covered by the shady coolness of the stone walls, making a lengthy shopping trip a pleasure. The spooky basement of the Palace itself has turned into a colourful mixture of art and souvenir stalls.

Fish Market

Split's close proximity to the sea treats its citizens and guests to an abundance of freshly caught seafood. The Fish Market located in the old part of town boasts a myriad of diverse fish stalls, providing restaurants and people throughout the town with the freshest products. After midday, if there is any fish left, you can buy it at half price.

Passport & Visa

Croatia can be visited visa-free for up to 90 days by citizens of Australia, New Zealand, Japan, South Korea, Taiwan, Malaysia, Israel, UAE and most countries in America.

If you are unsure whether or not you need to apply for a visa, we recommend contacting the embassy or consulate in your country.

International (non-Schengen) travellers need a passport that is valid for at least 3 months after the end of their intended trip in order to enter the Schengen zone. Citizens of Schengen countries can travel without a passport, but must have a valid ID with them during their stay.

Public Transport

The easiest way to get around in Split, especially in the Old Town, is by walking. If you plan to visit the outskirts of Split, use the city buses. They generally operate between 5 am and midnight. Tickets can be bought at the bus or from a newspaper kiosk.

Promet Split bus company operates 19 routes in the city itself, plus three night routes. Several suburban lines connect Split to Trogir: line 37, which goes to Split Airport; to Klis fortress: line 34; to Solin and to Omis: line 60.

Intercity buses usually depart from the local bus terminal called 'Sukoišan autobusni kolodvor'
