THE CITY

Visit Västerås

If you're looking for an experience that is out of the ordinary then Sweden's sixth largest city is the place to come. In Västerås, you can spend the night underwater or among the treetops, alternate good shopping with fun events and explore the beautiful Lake Mälaren — there is something for everyone in Västerås.

Visit Västerås Cathedral, which has been awarded 3 stars by the Guide Michelin. King Erik XIV is buried here, who, according to hearsay, was poisoned by his brothers putting arsenic in his pea soup. Don't miss Anundshög, Sweden's largest burial ground with its rune stones and stone ships. Take a trip back in time and visit Vallby Open Air Museum, which boasts buildings from the early 1900s.

Västerås is also an entrepreneurial city. It is the birthplace of ASEA (now ABB), the clothing giant H&M, and the leading retail company ICA.

In addition, the city was Nobel Prize Winner Tomas Tranströmer's hometown for 30 years and several of his haiku poems have been sandblasted onto paving stones and placed in and around the city centre.

The Västerås Cityfestival is a hugely popular event. For a few days every summer, the city is filled with far more people and life than usual, all getting ready to meet Sweden's biggest performers.

The city offers a vast array of cultural life, entertainment, and activities and has something for everyone, whether you're looking to do some great shopping, visit interesting museums, have fun with your kids, or go out on the town. The sky is truly the limit here in Västerås!

LAKE LIFE

Mostphotos, VMNAB / Visit Västerås

Nestled along the shores of Lake Mälaren, Västerås is a haven for water enthusiasts. The Västerås archipelago beckons with its plentiful natural harbours for mooring and a multitude of islands to explore. Summertime brings daily ferry services to the islands, featuring captivating journeys through the locks on the Hjälmare Canal and visits to the Viking town of Birka. For sun-seekers, Östra Holmen is a popular choice, while Elba offers a scenic dining spot with breathtaking views of the city. And let's not forget the delightful mainland beaches that add to Västerås' aquatic charm.

Elba Ferry

During the summer months, the classic Elba ferry becomes a beloved attraction in Västerås. This hop-on-hop-off boat offers a leisurely journey, allowing passengers to explore swimming beaches, enchanting harbour views, and scenic walkways. With a ticket valid for the entire day, passengers can freely hop on and off at their leisure, immersing themselves in the charm of several ports along the route.

Lövudden Beach

Lövudden promises a plethora of fun activities for visitors of all ages! Beyond its sandy beach, the area boasts a jetty, lawned spaces, a playground, playing fields, barbecues, and a delightful café. Adventure-seekers can explore water activities at the Swedish YMCA center, which offers rentals of canoes, sailing boats, rowing boats, pedalos, and windsurfing boards.

Ridön, one of the largest islands in the archipelago, is a tranquil haven where you won't find cars or asphalt. Instead, it boasts dirt roads and charming little red cottages. This idyllic island promises incredible countryside vistas and thrilling adventures. Explore its beauty via a tractor-drawn cart, savour coffee at a cosy café, or delve into local history at the museum. And for those wanting to linger, there are options to stay at the youth hostel or rent a cabin.

Östra Holmen

Östra Holmen is one of the most popular islands in the Västerås archipelago and the locals flock here to swim, sunbathe, and picnic. The island is just a 15-minute boat ride away from the harbour and has child-friendly sandy beaches and smooth rocks as well as naturist beaches. There is a regular ferryboat service here during the summer months.

DO & SEE

© Clifford Shirley, Västerås & Co / Visit Västerås

Västerås is a city steeped in history, culture, and entertainment, offering a plethora of attractions to suit diverse interests. From the ancient Anundshög burial mound dating back to the 900s to the 13th-century Västerås Cathedral, and a vibrant modern concert hall, the city boasts a range of experiences. Engsö, Tidö, and Västerås Castles, Vallby Open Air Museum, and the charming Kyrbacken neighbourhood are among the highlights. Additionally, the city's proximity to Lake Mälaren adds to its allure, with a rich boat life to explore.

Anundshög

Anundshög stands as Sweden's largest burial mound, an ancient marvel with a 60-metre diameter and a towering height of approximately 9 metres.

While the exact era of its construction remains a topic of debate, ranging from the Bronze Age to the late Iron Age, radiocarbon dating of a fireplace beneath it suggests a timeline between AD 500 and 1050. Although legend has it that King Bröt-Anund found his final resting place here, concrete proof remains elusive. For centuries, this site has served as a cultural epicentre for the entire west Mälardalen region, echoing Sweden's rich history and mysteries.

Engsö Castle

Engsö Castle is a picturesque estate nestled amidst landscaped gardens near a serene lake. It is well-known in Sweden for its ghostly inhabitants, with numerous stories of hauntings adding to its mystique. The castle also boasts an intriguing feature — the slender five-foot-long "Engsökedjan" chain embedded in its walls. Legend has it that this chain was won by Johan Sigismund Sparre, the last of his line, in a high-stakes game of dice with the devil himself.

Tidö Castle

Tidö Castle is a splendid example of the Dutch Renaissance style and stands as one of Sweden's best-preserved Baroque palaces. Its history traces back to the 15th century when the Gren family built a medieval house on the site. In the 17th century, the Lord High Chancellor of Sweden, Axel Oxenstierna, constructed the present castle, which was owned by the Oxenstiern family for two centuries. In 1890, it came under the care of the von Schinkel family, and today, David von Schinkel continues to manage and preserve this cultural heritage, sharing its rich history with the public while still serving as a private residence.

Västerås Castle

Västerås Castle, situated just a stone's throw from the city centre, bears witness to a rich and tumultuous part of Swedish history.

Constructed in the 13th century, the castle was once the house of Crown Prince Erik before becoming his prison.

Between June 14, 1573, and October 16, 1574, King Erik XIV was held captive here, enduring separation from his wife and their children. The dethroned king moved to Örbyhus shortly before his death, from poisoned pea soup says the story, but later his body was brought back to Västerås for burial in the cathedral.

The castle now hosts the Västmanland County Museum, county archive, library, and administration. Visitors can explore hidden lakes and winding trails that offer a tranquil escape within this historical enclave.
